Mishaps manifest lessons

By Madame Hughes

Alice Brown (March 20 to April 18)

“Just Like Heaven” is a just a little too much.

The movie opens with a woman in a white dress, which includes everything too many flowers, blonde curls and false flowers in her hair. The picture begins with Alice (played by Reese Witherspoon), sitting placidly in a plantation field with flowers all around her. Cña a guy's, a young man.

Unfortunately, the movie quickly moves from the flower field to the most of the film. Alice is a young, beautiful and working girl. The movie follows her through her relationship to a young man, whom she marries. The movie then shows that she is destined to find a man and a man who will destroy everything. The movie ends with Alice discovering that Alice’s baby is in fact a male.

The movie is all about the love that one can have for another. The movie shows that love can be found in the most unexpected places.

Movie’s moral message destroys ending

By Madame Hughes

The movie plays like a sadistic thriller with a twist at the end.

In the film, the character Alice is a woman who keeps walking in her sleep. She is unable to wake up and the movie keeps showing her walking. This makes the audience question what is real and what is not.

The movie’s message is that life is not always what it seems. The movie shows that sometimes the things that we think are real are just illusions.

Although the movie is not very exciting, it is not a complete waste of time. The movie has a lot of heart and it is able to make the audience feel for the characters.
