Missouri’s elected representatives are considering doubling the ceiling on Bright Flight, an in-state scholarship program that awards annual stipends to top-performing high school students. In addition, lawmakers are considering raising the ceiling on the state’s Bright Flight allotment without restriction for Missouri students.

The objective of Bright Flight always has been to provide a “Jump Start” toward determining the number of students that would not leave the state to attend college elsewhere. Bright Flight has been a significant portion of these scholarships for students at other schools. For students performing at or near the top in high school, Bright Flight provides a financial incentive to remain in Missouri and graduate from high school.

WHAT IS THE BRIGHT FLIGHT AWARD?

Missouri students are the beneficiaries of Bright Flight. The state of Missouri is taking a financial risk in providing these scholarships and in providing grants to students. Missouri citizens should be financially responsible for the costs of their educational pursuits. The state of Missouri is taking a financial risk in providing these scholarships and in providing grants to students.

The Editors

Wednesday, February 22

Editorial Policy

The headline in the Lincoln Daily Leader is strange. It refers to the state’s Bright Flight allotment without restriction for Missouri students. It is the state’s Bright Flight allotment without restriction for Missouri students. This is an attempt to educate the readers of the Lincoln Daily Leader on the state’s Bright Flight allotment without restriction for Missouri students.

The Editors

Letter to the Editor

35% (20)

Yes. It is an efficient way to increase student participation.

77% (20)

No. It’s hard to focus on learning in the background.

February 21, 2006

Editorial Staff

Welcome!

Do you agree with the University’s goal of raising the student/faculty ratio?”

Do you agree with the proposal that could lead to an increase in Missouri’s Bright Flight scholarship?

THIS WEEK’S QUESTION:

Do you agree with the proposal that could lead to an increase in Missouri’s Bright Flight scholarship?

Let’s talk about the Missouri’s Bright Flight scholarship. The proposal is to increase the ceiling on Missouri’s Bright Flight allotment without restriction for Missouri students. Bright Flight has been a significant portion of these scholarships for students at other schools. For students performing at or near the top in high school, Bright Flight provides a financial incentive to remain in Missouri and graduate from high school.

The Editors

Argument that homosexuality is aberrant, unnatural is flawed

P.O. Box 8000

Isaac's letter probably calendared many others.

The editors mark the first time in nearly 20 years that the Measure of $2,000 per student is raised to the measure of $2,000 per student.

Do you agree with the proposal that could lead to an increase in Missouri’s Bright Flight scholarship?

Argument that homosexuality is aberrant, unnatural is flawed

The editors mark the first time in nearly 20 years that the Measure of $2,000 per student is raised to the measure of $2,000 per student.

The editors mark the first time in nearly 20 years that the Measure of $2,000 per student is raised to the measure of $2,000 per student.