Truman gives root to family trees

Love-struck student children send their former alma mater a message

An array of issues surrounds the campus. Despite the bustling atmosphere, plenty of space. Rent $750 per month plus utilities. $450 available near campus. $350 for Rent. For Rent: Large two- or three-bedroom houses from three blocks from Truman campus. Newly remodeled washer/dryer hook ups. Reasonable rent. Call 665-5088 for more information. Jeff Gall, associate professor of psychology, said he understood Yori's behavior because he had been through a similar experience.

Gall said that when she began attending the University, the student union was not located on the current site but was instead located in a different building. She said that during her time there, the union was a hub of activity for students and that she often spent time there.

When she was younger, she was excited for college because she knew what her parents did during those times, but it gave her the desire to stay. She was excited to meet other people and to find her place on campus. She said that the experience was important for her development.

Truman said that it was important for the student union to have a presence on campus in order to serve a range of students.

Gall also said that it was important for the university to have a space for students to come together.

The university also has a new student union building which is located on the corner of 20th Street and Main Street. The building is used for a variety of purposes including student activities and meetings.

It is a vital space for the university and for the students who attend.

The university also has a new student union building which is located on the corner of 20th Street and Main Street. The building is used for a variety of purposes including student activities and meetings.

It is a vital space for the university and for the students who attend.

The university also has a new student union building which is located on the corner of 20th Street and Main Street. The building is used for a variety of purposes including student activities and meetings.

It is a vital space for the university and for the students who attend.