Iron Dogs compete at home meets

Rebecca Eastwood

Four miles into the race, the Iron Dogs were leading. "I was so excited," said captain Chris Elledge. "I thought we were going to win." But the Truman roller hockey team isn't, or at least it didn't, according to Chris Elledge, a captain.

"We're just happy to be here," he said. "It's good to have something to look forward to." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.

"It's good to have something to look forward to," he said. "It's good to have something to be excited about." The Truman roller hockey team is one of the few teams left in the country that is still active, and Elledge and his teammates are grateful for the opportunity to play.