Scott resigns council post

Helen Bites

The Kirksville City Council has another new face in the form of Councilwoman Helen Bites. Bites said she stepped down because she thought it was time to let others have a chance. City Manager Dean Scott also said he thought it was time for another person to take over the position, citing that it is a full-time job that requires someone to dedicate their time to it.

Bites said she thinks it is important to have a diversity of voices on the council, and that she wants to make sure that everyone has a chance to serve. She said she is looking forward to the next council meeting, and is excited to see what changes will be brought forth.

Scott, on the other hand, said that he is glad to see Bites step down, and that he is looking forward to the new council. He said that he hopes that the city will continue to move forward in a positive direction.

---

Universities honor victims

The Kirksville Junior High School and Truman State University both held ceremonies to honor the victims of the Flight 596 crash.

At the Junior High School, students and teachers gathered in the cafeteria to remember the victims. The ceremony included a moment of silence, and then the names of the victims were read aloud.

At Truman State University, a memorial service was held in the Center of Performing Arts. The service included a reading of the names of the victims, and then a moment of silence.

Both events were attended by family members of the victims, as well as friends and colleagues.

---

Fears of outsourcing are continuing to escalate

President Barbara Dixon said that outsourcing is a major concern for the university.

Dixon said that outsourcing is a major issue for the university, and that it is something that the administration is actively working on.

She said that the university is taking steps to mitigate the impact of outsourcing, and that it is working to ensure that the university remains competitive.

Dixon also said that the university is actively recruiting new faculty members, and that it is working to ensure that the university remains competitive.

---

Road work nears end

Local officials host ribbon cutting ceremony for U.S. Highway 63 near Kirksville

Emily Humble

Ribbon-cutting ceremonies have been held for a number of projects in the area, including the Highway 63 expansion.

The ribbon-cutting ceremony took place in Kirksville on Thursday, and was attended by a number of officials, including the mayor and members of the city council.

The ceremony included speeches by invited speakers, as well as the cutting of a ribbon.

The ribbon-cutting ceremony was a part of a larger event, which included refreshments and a brief comments by invited speakers.

The construction on Highway 63 isn't just creating more lanes and quicker travel time, but it also helps with economic development because big factories like to be near infrastructure, and it also helps with economic development because big factories like to be near infrastructure.

The ribbon-cutting ceremonies took place in Kirksville on Thursday, and was attended by a number of officials, including the mayor and members of the city council.

The ceremony included speeches by invited speakers, as well as the cutting of a ribbon.

The ribbon-cutting ceremony was a part of a larger event, which included refreshments and a brief comments by invited speakers.

The construction on Highway 63 isn't just creating more lanes and quicker travel time, but it also helps with economic development because big factories like to be near infrastructure, and it also helps with economic development because big factories like to be near infrastructure.

The ribbon-cutting ceremonies took place in Kirksville on Thursday, and was attended by a number of officials, including the mayor and members of the city council.

The ceremony included speeches by invited speakers, as well as the cutting of a ribbon.

The ribbon-cutting ceremony was a part of a larger event, which included refreshments and a brief comments by invited speakers.

The construction on Highway 63 isn't just creating more lanes and quicker travel time, but it also helps with economic development because big factories like to be near infrastructure, and it also helps with economic development because big factories like to be near infrastructure.

The ribbon-cutting ceremonies took place in Kirksville on Thursday, and was attended by a number of officials, including the mayor and members of the city council.

The ceremony included speeches by invited speakers, as well as the cutting of a ribbon.

The ribbon-cutting ceremony was a part of a larger event, which included refreshments and a brief comments by invited speakers.

The construction on Highway 63 isn't just creating more lanes and quicker travel time, but it also helps with economic development because big factories like to be near infrastructure, and it also helps with economic development because big factories like to be near infrastructure.

The ribbon-cutting ceremonies took place in Kirksville on Thursday, and was attended by a number of officials, including the mayor and members of the city council.

The ceremony included speeches by invited speakers, as well as the cutting of a ribbon.

The ribbon-cutting ceremony was a part of a larger event, which included refreshments and a brief comments by invited speakers.

The construction on Highway 63 isn't just creating more lanes and quicker travel time, but it also helps with economic development because big factories like to be near infrastructure, and it also helps with economic development because big factories like to be near infrastructure.

The ribbon-cutting ceremonies took place in Kirksville on Thursday, and was attended by a number of officials, including the mayor and members of the city council.

The ceremony included speeches by invited speakers, as well as the cutting of a ribbon.

The ribbon-cutting ceremony was a part of a larger event, which included refreshments and a brief comments by invited speakers.

The construction on Highway 63 isn't just creating more lanes and quicker travel time, but it also helps with economic development because big factories like to be near infrastructure, and it also helps with economic development because big factories like to be near infrastructure.

The ribbon-cutting ceremonies took place in Kirksville on Thursday, and was attended by a number of officials, including the mayor and members of the city council.

The ceremony included speeches by invited speakers, as well as the cutting of a ribbon.

The ribbon-cutting ceremony was a part of a larger event, which included refreshments and a brief comments by invited speakers.

The construction on Highway 63 isn't just creating more lanes and quicker travel time, but it also helps with economic development because big factories like to be near infrastructure, and it also helps with economic development because big factories like to be near infrastructure.

The ribbon-cutting ceremonies took place in Kirksville on Thursday, and was attended by a number of officials, including the mayor and members of the city council.

The ceremony included speeches by invited speakers, as well as the cutting of a ribbon.

The ribbon-cutting ceremony was a part of a larger event, which included refreshments and a brief comments by invited speakers.

The construction on Highway 63 isn't just creating more lanes and quicker travel time, but it also helps with economic development because big factories like to be near infrastructure, and it also helps with economic development because big factories like to be near infrastructure.

The ribbon-cutting ceremonies took place in Kirksville on Thursday, and was attended by a number of officials, including the mayor and members of the city council.

The ceremony included speeches by invited speakers, as well as the cutting of a ribbon.

The ribbon-cutting ceremony was a part of a larger event, which included refreshments and a brief comments by invited speakers.

The construction on Highway 63 isn't just creating more lanes and quicker travel time, but it also helps with economic development because big factories like to be near infrastructure, and it also helps with economic development because big factories like to be near infrastructure.

The ribbon-cutting ceremonies took place in Kirksville on Thursday, and was attended by a number of officials, including the mayor and members of the city council.

The ceremony included speeches by invited speakers, as well as the cutting of a ribbon.

The ribbon-cutting ceremony was a part of a larger event, which included refreshments and a brief comments by invited speakers.