Festivities raise cause for caution

Students' seek high marks in Career Expo

Kate Dorcy

Mr. and Mrs. Bronson Hunsaker, alumni of Truman State University, were recently named first place winners in a national lip-synch competition and as a result were named grand winners in the national “Penny Wars” competition.

“Our students received first place honors in the lip-synch competition and grand honors in the Penny Wars,” said Hunsaker.

Hunsaker said that in the national lip-synch competition, Truman State University won first place based on their performance and the judges’ evaluation of their production value.

In the Penny Wars, the students had to create a campaign to raise money for various causes. The campaign that won was the one that raised the most money.

Hunsaker said that the students had to come up with creative ideas to raise money and then present those ideas to the judges.

The judges evaluated the students’ ideas on their creativity, execution, and fundraising potential.

Hunsaker said that the students were very excited to win both awards and that they were proud of their hard work.

The students hope to use the funds raised from the awards to support various causes, such as scholarships for students and other community organizations.

“We are excited to use the funds raised from these awards to support various organizations,” said Hunsaker.

The students had to work very hard to win these awards, but they were very happy with the outcome.

Hunsaker said that the students are very hard-working and that they are dedicated to making a difference in the community.

“The students are very dedicated to making a difference in the community, and they are very hard-working,” said Hunsaker.

The students hope to continue to raise money for various causes in the future.

Hunsaker said that the students are looking forward to future opportunities to raise money and to help others.

The students are very dedicated to making a difference in the community and to helping others.

Hunsaker said that the students are very hard-working and that they are dedicated to making a difference in the community.

“The students are very dedicated to making a difference in the community, and they are very hard-working,” said Hunsaker.