Crude, prude scores

Movie Review

Steve Carell: Genre: Comedy Length: 116 minutes

Director: Nancy Carell

Starring: Steve Carell, Catherine Keener, Seth Rogen, Paul Rudd, Romany Malco, David T. Laser

Length: 116 minutes

Genre: Comedy

Director: Nancy Carell

Starring: Steve Carell, Catherine Keener, Seth Rogen, Paul Rudd, Romany Malco, David T. Laser

The 40-Year-Old Virgin was a major hit, but many critics and audiences negatively responded to the new movie The 40-Year-Old Virgin.

Synopsis

In The 40-Year-Old Virgin, the lead character, Andy, is a middle-aged virgin who wants to get married, but he has never had any luck with women. He works at a software company with four other men, who are also virgins. They decide to attend a speed-dating event in order to meet women and hopefully find someone to date.

Critics' Reviews

Many critics were disappointed with the movie, finding it to be vulgar and offensive. The movie was also criticized for its portrayal of virgins and for its use of excessive swearing and raunchy humor. Some critics found the movie to be funny, but others found it to be disrespectful and insulting.

Audience Reaction

Many audience members enjoyed the movie, finding it to be funny and entertaining. However, some were disappointed with the vulgarity and offensive language used in the film.

Conclusion

In conclusion, The 40-Year-Old Virgin was a mixed bag. While some critics found it to be funny and entertaining, others were disappointed with its vulgarity and offensive language. The movie was a moderate success at the box office, but it received mixed reviews from both critics and audiences.