Federal marshals take over Too Talls case, wariness against Golden Spike fire

Amanda Boyle
Staff Reporter

The search of Missouri barons and an alleged arsonist have at least one thing in common: Each month retail has lost the past year.

Investigation of the Too Talls fire continues

GRUBER
Continued from Page 3

Gruber was involved in many professional organizations, including the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, the American Philosophical Association, the Philosophy of Management Committee and several others according to his obituary on the Missouri Highway and Transportation Department website.

Mostly known for his public service, Gruber had been a major force in the Truman chapter of the American Association of University Professors.

While at the university he served on the faculty and with the Missouri Philosophical Association, said that he was an extraordinarily loyal and dedicated professor. "Don't let the due date in the classroom, but he was very much a part of issues concerning faculty governance," Warren said in recognition of Gruber's longtime contribution to the university.

"He gave much to the university and the community," said Warren. "He was especially generous to his students. He was always there for them, even after his retirement." Warren said that Gruber was involved in different committees and he was a part of the Academic Council of the AAUP.

"He was really one of the best teachers I think I've ever had," Gruber said. "He was a very good commentator on society and the economic system.

Gruber also had been recently elected to the Executive Council of the American Philosophical Association.

"William Holmes Beard, another university president Barbara Byers said, was an extraordinarily loyal and dedicated professor." Warren said.

"Not only did he excel in the classroom, but he was also an outstanding administrator. He has some more responsibilities in the community than is generally known," said Warren.

Gruber is survived by his wife, Marcia, and two daughters. His family has not announced a business funeral. He said the admission of racial unrest

Continued from Page 1

The April 2006 election will go as usual. The appointed council members may decide to run for a full term or not.

MASTEN

Masten resigned, plans moves toouver

Continued from Page 3

Masten and her husband, Steve, lived on Country Club Drive. At the time of publication, her husband and son were in New York City.

"She is not the first time we have had a vacancy like this," Macon said at the meeting Wednesday. "But we don't have anything like that, so this is why we do."" There is no federal or state statute or city ordinance that establishes a policy for replacing a council member in this position, said Masten.

Both Rowe and Councilman Rich ter, both of whom had been members of the community college and William Woods University Board of Governors, said that they would vote to replace Masten.

"That evening we had already decided that we would not extend the appointment," she said. "So, what happens now?

There is no federal or state statute or city ordinance that establishes a specific process in replacing a City Council member.

"There are many possibilities, said Masten.

"There are many possibilities, said Masten.

There are many possibilities, said Masten.

"There are many possibilities, said Masten.

"There are many possibilities, said Masten.

"There are many possibilities, said Masten.

"There are many possibilities, said Masten.

"There are many possibilities, said Masten.

"There are many possibilities, said Masten.

"There are many possibilities, said Masten.

"There are many possibilities, said Masten.

"There are many possibilities, said Masten.

"There are many possibilities, said Masten.