Mainstreet Market raises prices on 9 percent of items

Michelle Forner

Students with meal plans will have to pay $1.50 more for each meal at Mainstreet Market.

The price increases vary from a few cents on some items to 40 cents on others, said Susan Blum, director of food services, said that about 185 items, 14 percent in total.

Despite the increases, Markeson said that prices in Mainstreet Market are still lower than at Blimpie. Students had noticed the changes seen at Blimpie Subs and Salad, the chicken sandwich raised 25 cents in price because of a product change. The type of chicken used changed from plain to garlic and the cost of the sub increased to $5.79.

Markeson said many of the items in Mainstreet Market are competitive with other local businesses.

Students who eat at Mainstreet Market can get approximately 150 meals a year for the same amount that they would get at Blimpie.

She also said students don’t do a cost analysis every semester to determine what prices might need to be changed.

The chicken sandwich raised 25 cents in price because of a product change. The type of chicken used changed from plain to garlic and the cost of the sub increased to $5.79.

Markeson said many of the items in Mainstreet Market are competitive with other local businesses.

Students who eat at Mainstreet Market can get approximately 150 meals a year for the same amount that they would get at Blimpie.

She also said students don’t do a cost analysis every semester to determine what prices might need to be changed.

The chicken sandwich raised 25 cents in price because of a product change. The type of chicken used changed from plain to garlic and the cost of the sub increased to $5.79.

Markeson said many of the items in Mainstreet Market are competitive with other local businesses.

Students who eat at Mainstreet Market can get approximately 150 meals a year for the same amount that they would get at Blimpie.

She also said students don’t do a cost analysis every semester to determine what prices might need to be changed.

The chicken sandwich raised 25 cents in price because of a product change. The type of chicken used changed from plain to garlic and the cost of the sub increased to $5.79.

Markeson said many of the items in Mainstreet Market are competitive with other local businesses.

Students who eat at Mainstreet Market can get approximately 150 meals a year for the same amount that they would get at Blimpie.

She also said students don’t do a cost analysis every semester to determine what prices might need to be changed.

The chicken sandwich raised 25 cents in price because of a product change. The type of chicken used changed from plain to garlic and the cost of the sub increased to $5.79.

Markeson said many of the items in Mainstreet Market are competitive with other local businesses.

Students who eat at Mainstreet Market can get approximately 150 meals a year for the same amount that they would get at Blimpie.

She also said students don’t do a cost analysis every semester to determine what prices might need to be changed.

The chicken sandwich raised 25 cents in price because of a product change. The type of chicken used changed from plain to garlic and the cost of the sub increased to $5.79.

Markeson said many of the items in Mainstreet Market are competitive with other local businesses.

Students who eat at Mainstreet Market can get approximately 150 meals a year for the same amount that they would get at Blimpie.

She also said students don’t do a cost analysis every semester to determine what prices might need to be changed.

The chicken sandwich raised 25 cents in price because of a product change. The type of chicken used changed from plain to garlic and the cost of the sub increased to $5.79.

Markeson said many of the items in Mainstreet Market are competitive with other local businesses.

Students who eat at Mainstreet Market can get approximately 150 meals a year for the same amount that they would get at Blimpie.

She also said students don’t do a cost analysis every semester to determine what prices might need to be changed.

The chicken sandwich raised 25 cents in price because of a product change. The type of chicken used changed from plain to garlic and the cost of the sub increased to $5.79.

Markeson said many of the items in Mainstreet Market are competitive with other local businesses.

Students who eat at Mainstreet Market can get approximately 150 meals a year for the same amount that they would get at Blimpie.

She also said students don’t do a cost analysis every semester to determine what prices might need to be changed.

The chicken sandwich raised 25 cents in price because of a product change. The type of chicken used changed from plain to garlic and the cost of the sub increased to $5.79.

Markeson said many of the items in Mainstreet Market are competitive with other local businesses.

Students who eat at Mainstreet Market can get approximately 150 meals a year for the same amount that they would get at Blimpie.

She also said students don’t do a cost analysis every semester to determine what prices might need to be changed.

The chicken sandwich raised 25 cents in price because of a product change. The type of chicken used changed from plain to garlic and the cost of the sub increased to $5.79.

Markeson said many of the items in Mainstreet Market are competitive with other local businesses.

Students who eat at Mainstreet Market can get approximately 150 meals a year for the same amount that they would get at Blimpie.

She also said students don’t do a cost analysis every semester to determine what prices might need to be changed.