Rain nags women's golf  as team takes eighth in Iowa women's golf meet in Lake Okoboji, Iowa.

Sara Lloyd, Mary Kate Theriault, Becki Gell, and Laura Westensee said it's important to consider that the tournament included all the good teams in the region. "We knew that we wouldn't have a good performance," she said. "I don't think we could place very high at all, but we could place high at a tournament like this."

Next week the 'Dogs will play against some very special teams. "We're supposed to play two top teams on Monday, and once we do that, I think we'll place really well," Lloyd said. The women were allowed to use their own clubs, but they were not allowed to use any equipment other than their own. "We all had to keep our own scorecards," Lloyd said. "We all had to keep our own scorecards."

Lloyd and her teammates were able to score a 78, which is a good score overall. "It was a long weekend overall, I'm proud everyone held it together," Lloyd said. "It was a long weekend overall, I'm proud everyone held it together."
