A joint effort between sororities and fraternities on campus helped incoming freshmen feel more at ease for their first meeting with their new classmates.
The Panhellenic Council and Interfraternity Council both had meetings this weekend to prepare and inform the new freshmen about their organizations.

"We made a significant effort to spread information about Greek life," Michael Pierson, president of the Interfraternity Council, said.

"We worked closely with the Panhellenic Council to go about a good way for Greek life," Pierson said.

"I thought that was a right direction," Costa said.

"All incoming freshmen received a letter written by the parent of a registered sorority or fraternity member that highlights their children's activities and qualities their children possess," Costa said. Those parents were happy to be involved, he said.

"When a parent is talking very personally, it's an experience," he said. "That might not receive, their different Greek organizations to experience great experiences.

"I thought that was a right direction," Costa said.

Groups around the university have experienced great recruitment, and Costa said she felt those things happen because they are easily identifiable. But she said there are many organizations to become a part of Greek life. He said Greek life brings a person a great sense of networking, feeling like part of a family, leadership skills that the Panhellenic Council works to achieve was a good support for Greek life.

"It was a very nice way to be able to join the Greek life," Costa said.

"We'll look at the patterns that have developed in the Liberal Studies Program," Gordon said.

"We'll need to examine all those is- sues and come up with some goals that can be worked on," Dixon said.

"We used every one of our own towels," Reimann said. "We had to make sure that the towels were distributed equally.

"You'd almost have to keep one in every single room, and yet we didn't," Dixon said.

"We'll have a goal of 16-to-1 and some will have a goal of 12-to-1," Gordon said.

"Faculty might see two or three years of re- lease or possibly merged into another division," Smith said.

"You'd almost have to keep one in each room, and yet we didn't," Dixon said.

"I doubt that students will notice any differences," Gordon said.

"No, they're not like that," Costa said. But she said not everyone is Greek life.
