Bathrooms gain keypads

Dobson Hall will follow Missouri in reception of keypad entries

Forgetting one's key can be the source of considerable discomfort, according to students living in Dobson Hall.

"I've been having this problem where I keep losing my keys," Mark Mounsey said. "I go behind my door and lock it with the key, and then I forget to get the key to get into the bathroom.

I think something like maybe 50 people have lost their keys in the last week," he said. "People find them in the grass and in the hallways. They've dropped their door and unlocked it and they forget to lock it again, so I go inside and lock it and I go back to get the key to get into the bathroom.

Mounsey said that while students might like the idea of keyless entries because of the automatic mechanism on Dobson doors, it's not perfect.

"The bathrooms did not used to allow people to go in," said Bryan Kaimann, a freshman at Dobson.

"I think it will keep the stragglers in," said sophomore Laura Berkowitz, an RA in Dobson.

"It's so much easier than having a key," Bryan said.

"It might keep it a little cleaner," said Kaimann.

"It's pretty inconvenient when you have to go for the bathroom, and you have to lock your key," said freshman Rafael Andrade, a Dobson student advisor.
