Daily Web page jolts into activity with new employees

John Priest
Staff Reporter

Truman State has found a jolting addition to its campus community.

The Daily Jolt, an interactive Web page created for students by students, used to be a popular procrastination tool on Truman’s student center. But now, the Daily Jolt, being accessed at Truman, but it is no longer updateable, is getting a new lease on life. Chris Miller, director of the Daily Jolt, said there is a need for more writing, reading and computer-related content for the news box and posting messages in forums, puzzles also are available.

Miller said the Truman Daily Jolt jolters are the campus’ go-to source for a wide range of campus news, entertainment, such as concerts in the area and getting people to post events. The Daily Jolt is a nationwide entertainment, such as concerts in the area and getting people to post events.

The Daily Jolt is also a nationwide entertainment, such as concerts in the area and getting people to post events.

The Daily Jolt is a nationwide entertainment, such as concerts in the area and getting people to post events.

The Daily Jolt is a nationwide entertainment, such as concerts in the area and getting people to post events.

The Daily Jolt is a nationwide entertainment, such as concerts in the area and getting people to post events.

The Daily Jolt is a nationwide entertainment, such as concerts in the area and getting people to post events.

The Daily Jolt is a nationwide entertainment, such as concerts in the area and getting people to post events.

The Daily Jolt is a nationwide entertainment, such as concerts in the area and getting people to post events.

The Daily Jolt is a nationwide entertainment, such as concerts in the area and getting people to post events.

The Daily Jolt is a nationwide entertainment, such as concerts in the area and getting people to post events.

The Daily Jolt is a nationwide entertainment, such as concerts in the area and getting people to post events.