Politicians stop by local NRA banquet

Several politicians attended the Northwest Missouri Student-Farmers' Association banquet Saturday at the NEMO Fairgrounds. Talent spoke at the cornerstone after the banquet about the economy of Missouri, Congress of Truman students and the chance to run for office in the 2008 election.

Kirkville’s TRU Alternative

Monday — Your Hip-Hop Fix with Dave & Franklin
7 to 9 p.m. — Metal James Ginns
Thursday — Format Review with Harry Durson
6 to 8 p.m. — Rock & Roll with Ash Young
10 p.m. to 2 a.m. — Funk and R&B with Daniel Curtis
10 a.m. to 12 p.m. — Shortcuts with Joeson Redels
Wednesday — FLAT80s Only Locally Produced
11 a.m. to 2 p.m. — All Request with Kate & Julia
6 to 8 p.m. — Prime Party (Chatting with Damar)
10 to 12 p.m. — Indie and R&B with John Fecher
6 to 9 p.m. — Funk & R&B with Daniel Curtis
Sunday — Hip-Hop and R&B with Bryan Austin
6 to 9 p.m. — West of the West with Ben Danday
10 to 12 a.m. — Blues with Leah Guerero
Who’s Who
Among Students in American Universities & Colleges
Eligibility
Seniors graduating in December, May or August 2006-07 Academic Year
Active in campus or community activities
2.75 cumulative GPA
Evaluation Criteria
Excellent academic record
Character
Breath and depth of leadership
Impact on the University or community
Nominations are due Sept. 29
Applications are due Oct. 27
Pick up/drop off at Kirk Building 112
For more information, call x4111

KTRM Kirkville • ktrm.truman.edu

Kirkville’s Specialty Shows for Everyone

SPECIALTY SHOWS FOR EVERYONE

Friday, September 21, 2006

6

88

8

Sen. Jim Talent attended an event of the Northwest Missouri Friends of National Rifle Association Saturday at the NEMO Fairgrounds. Talent spoke at the cornerstone after the banquet to a crowd of about 250, including local residents and students. Missouri State Rep. Bob Behnen, R-Kirkville, also attended the event.

Fine print establishes limits on some tenants’ ‘loud parties’ or disruptive music

Some off-campus students are finding that their landlords are zeroing in on the “no party” clause within their housing contracts.

Some students say that they have received letters from their landlords stating that they are expected to quieten down, especially after hours. Other students say that they have received no such notices.

“I just think it’s surprising, living in a university town, and Perrott is like, ‘Oh, little college town, and Perrott is like, ‘Oh, little college town, and the college is like, ‘Oh, little college town,’” said Todd Cook, who lives in an off-campus apartment with his roommate.

Cook and his roommate have not received any letters from the landlord about their noise levels.

Some college students say that they have received letters from their landlords stating that they are expected to quieten down, especially after hours. Other students say that they have received no such notices.

“I just think it’s surprising, living in a university town, and Perrott is like, ‘Oh, little college town, and the college is like, ‘Oh, little college town,’” said Todd Cook, who lives in an off-campus apartment with his roommate.

Cook and his roommate have not received any letters from the landlord about their noise levels.

Some college students say that they have received letters from their landlords stating that they are expected to quieten down, especially after hours. Other students say that they have received no such notices.

“I just think it’s surprising, living in a university town, and Perrott is like, ‘Oh, little college town, and the college is like, ‘Oh, little college town,’” said Todd Cook, who lives in an off-campus apartment with his roommate.

Cook and his roommate have not received any letters from the landlord about their noise levels.