Departments propose sweeping curriculum, procedure changes

By Sarah Scott

Changes in the list is a wind of the past for a university's academic departments.

"While the history department attempts to adapt to the internet's cutting edge, the Faculty Senate over the Fall of 2006, the history department's academic 10-year plan was adopted. Thomas Zoumaras, professor of history and chair of the history department, said the new plan was approved by the Faculty Senate, and that the history department has been working on it for the past two years.

The new plan includes a strong emphasis on digital humanities, and the creation of a new faculty position to be filled by a digital humanities specialist.

The plan also includes a new course in digital humanities, which will be offered in the fall of 2008.

"The new plan is a response to the changing landscape of the humanities," Zoumaras said. "We need to adapt to the digital age and create a new way of teaching.

"The new plan is a response to the changing landscape of the humanities," Zoumaras said. "We need to adapt to the digital age and create a new way of teaching.

Afflac is looking for key sales professionals and management trainees to work in the North Central Missouri area. Due to increased advertising and public knowledge of the health care crisis in America, we need to expand our sales representatives and management to keep up with the high demand for our programs. We have less than 5 market penetration in the state, and we need your help.

We will be conducting interviews at Truman University on April 22nd. For more information or to schedule an interview, please contact our recruiter, Chris Ashton (573) 441-1101 or christopher_ashton@us.afflac.com.