Kirksville’s independent film scene might begin to roll along thanks to Sophomore Andrew Turner and senior Micah Gall, who are spearheading efforts to bring an independent theater to the local community.

“We thought we really enjoyed the atmosphere,” Turner said. “We thought it was a good idea to keep an independent theater alive.”

Turner and Gall are spearheading efforts to bring an independent theater to Kirksville. Their idea is to bring an independent theater to Kirksville.

“Our biggest concern is money,” Gall said. “We need to find the money to bring a theater here.”

Turner said that he and Gall are wrestling with the idea of finding a suitable space for the theater. Turner said that he and Gall are looking for a space that would be suitable for an independent theater.

“Once you graduate from the university, you know, the technical support is no longer there,” Turner said. “Once you graduate from the university, you know, the technical support is no longer there.”
