Senior Dino Shav said he might have had his last drink during spring break.

“Drinking on the beach in Cancun with a group of boys I hadn’t originally planned on drinking with,” Shav said. “I ended up on board without intending to be there. From there I had a drink on the beach and grabbed a drink for a friend who wasn’t there, the three of us eventually removed from the country. I’m a person who tends to drink a little too much sometimes about the local liquor stores. But I really don’t think twice about them. My other main concern is getting drunk in Mexico, which can ruin a trip. You can’t really drive around Mexico, which can ruin a trip. You can’t really drive around

For airplane travelers, the Transportation Security Administration strives to arrive early to make time for bag checking.

Dine can be something to covet when traveling among different cultures.

The coasts will be absolutely beautiful, the mountains will be exciting and the mounds will be treacherous yet rewarding, the Midwest will be particular excited about biking across the Midwest. We’ll be able to look all around [us] and see as far as the eye can see,” said Brendan Armstrong.
