Archbishop alters Newman plans

BY JEAN KAUL, Staff reporter

The Newman community has been waiting for more than nine months for the building plans to come together. The plans have been altered, however, and will now include a temporary chapel in Phase 2 of building plans. The temporary chapel will be used as a temporary chapel for the Newman community.

The building will still be 30 stories bigger after Phase 1. Lesczynski said, "All of the inside will be the same as in the original plans, but the purpose of the room might differ."

The plans, which are now being worked on by the Newman community, will be discussed with the Adair County Drug Coalition, which will give input on the plans. The coalition will also give input on the plans to the Newman community.

The temporary chapel will be used as a temporary chapel for the Newman community. Lesczynski said, "All of the inside will be the same as in the original plans, but the purpose of the room might differ."

The plans will be presented to the Newman community for input. The plans will be discussed with the Adair County Drug Coalition, which will give input on the plans. The coalition will also give input on the plans to the Newman community.

"The whole goal of the course is to mold their ideas into a workable project," Aurand de Razo said. "The second form of service-learning is to provide a service-learning project into a course. To be classified as service-learning, the project must meet at least some of the following criteria:"