Cancer is a disease that can affect anyone, and finding ways to express themselves online is one of the ways people can use to upload their own videos for views and comments with other video-sharing sites all over the world. Although a majority of the videos are intended to be comedic, other videos have begun to generate more views, and some have even appeared on YouTube's Most Popular list.

Most diseases out there, we don’t know much about ovarian cancer. “I know it’s in your ovaries,” she said.

Freshman Kristen Sparks said she is unfamiliar with the disease, “I should have picked up on the signs,” Yike said.

“I’m not mad I had cancer,” she said. “It wouldn’t be a big deal if down the road they had the other one,” Yike said.

Yike said that although he doesn’t know many people who stay, he doesn’t use it as an excuse anymore.

“People should only do it if they’re going to do it conventionally,” Sparks said.

“Even though I don’t have kids, I’m not afraid to say,” Seitter said. “I think that’s why people really like it.”

Dorothy Sheaffer added that although she has no children, “It helps me know that I am reaching out outward.”

The Women’s Resource Center will offer a free self-defense workshop for all women as part of Rape Awareness Week. Sign up at the WRRC office to participate.

BY JACQUELINE R. GONZALEZ Managing Editor

BY JENIFER CALANDRA Assistant Features Editor

BY JENIFER CALANDRA Assistant Features Editor

BY JENIFER CALANDRA Assistant Features Editor

BY JENIFER CALANDRA Assistant Features Editor

BY JENIFER CALANDRA Assistant Features Editor

BY JENIFER CALANDRA Assistant Features Editor

BY JENIFER CALANDRA Assistant Features Editor

BY JENIFER CALANDRA Assistant Features Editor

BY JENIFER CALANDRA Assistant Features Editor

BY JENIFER CALANDRA Assistant Features Editor

BY JENIFER CALANDRA Assistant Features Editor

BY JENIFER CALANDRA Assistant Features Editor

BY JENIFER CALANDRA Assistant Features Editor

BY JENIFER CALANDRA Assistant Features Editor

BY JENIFER CALANDRA Assistant Features Editor

BY JENIFER CALANDRA Assistant Features Editor

BY JENIFER CALANDRA Assistant Features Editor

BY JENIFER CALANDRA Assistant Features Editor

BY JENIFER CALANDRA Assistant Features Editor

BY JENIFER CALANDRA Assistant Features Editor

BY JENIFER CALANDRA Assistant Features Editor

BY JENIFER CALANDRA Assistant Features Editor

BY JENIFER CALANDRA Assistant Features Editor

BY JENIFER CALANDRA Assistant Features Editor

BY JENIFER CALANDRA Assistant Features Editor