Zoe Martin

“Kiss — followed immediately by the cut to credits.

waiting for the

simultaneously are enthralled and repulsed by it.

its effect or not tossed at all to avoid the taboo.

it the way it’s meant to be talked about. As a word,

Valentine’s Day, try to stop equating love with red

So despite this publication’s proximity to mothers and sons, sisters, friends and couples

quali

fi

f

n
"Knock it off, Napoleon! Make "Well, what’s there to eat?" and easier to eat. Don’t forget to and sliced onions. Using a pizza cutter makes it saves a lot of time. I simply use pre-cooked rotisserie chicken from beyond that you just are adding you only need cheese and a tortilla.

In making my quesadilla, but other common onion, green pepper and chicken to extra ingredients that enhance and

Ingredients:

1 medium onion, roughly chopped

1/2 green pepper, roughly chopped

1/2 cup shredded chicken

Cooking spray (like Pam)

(12-inch) flour or corn tortillas 10 inches in diameter

Directions:

1. In a pan, sauté the green pepper in the two tablespoons of olive oil over medium heat and religious texts and philosophers continue to encouraging — but even with our silver-lined heavenly cards and on reflection, how never actually concrete terms.

friend, “I love you?” This phrase has been so other incarnations.

consumers, but it’s hardly a realistic portrayal of

I’ve got the family love down — we often inebriation. Try sobering up and telling someone friend lives across the country, but each time they friendships I’ve encountered exhibit this level speak on the phone, whether this happens every other week or twice a year, they end the conversasion with an “I love you.”

other words, I might use it Real love — that’s some heavy stuff. It’s Don’t start swooning, though. I’m using ‘love’

Realistically, to make a quesadilla rather pointless, but I think Napoleon Dynamite” as one of the many this scene from the movie “Napo-

Love lasts longer than an iPod

I think U.S. culture has a problem with

I admire this in their relationship. Most strong onion, green pepper and chicken to ingredients include steak, tomatoes,

Beyond that you just are adding

I’ve got the family love down — we often

I’ve got the family love down — we often

I’ve got the family love down — we often

I’ve got the family love down — we often

I’ve got the family love down — we often

I’ve got the family love down — we often

I’ve got the family love down — we often

I’ve got the family love down — we often

I’ve got the family love down — we often

I’ve got the family love down — we often

I’ve got the family love down — we often

I’ve got the family love down — we often

I’ve got the family love down — we often

I’ve got the family love down — we often

I’ve got the family love down — we often

I’ve got the family love down — we often

I’ve got the family love down — we often

A Kiss

... all accessible from the comfort of your room

Cooking with Julia: Quesadillas

Zoe Martin

Read the Index the easy way

www.trumanindex.com

Breaking News

Web Polls

Additional stories

E-mail stories

Access archive

Post Comments