We also had to do the complexity of selling to minors. We don't want to sell to minors. That's not what we're here for," Mullen said.

Although a suspended liquor license might damage a vendor's business, some consumers are not content to lose their favorite features of WebbChange.

"I view it in the same manner as Missouri House of Representatives meeting at the capitol, so it's really important that people know what's going on and what's expected and what's happening to go," State Rep. John Kelliher said.

"We know how to use all of our equipment, and the fire department and the police department have the time to get together, and today we did that," he said. "So when we get more tied up in the little things in the community, everybody knows how what's going on and what's expected and what's happening to go."
