Fall Out Boy goes glam, Allen catches spotlight

BY HARRY BURSON

Thursday, January 15, 2009

With the rise in Internet radio services and software that matches artists and their public recordings, the Music Genome Project has taken a new approach to the music business of the 21st century. What you hear on a radio station now is 60,000 artists and 600,000 songs, and the Web site combines social network features with music recommendation software are among the most popular streaming radio services, Pandora. The future of services like these is uncertain, but the music industry and PC vendors could be on a collision course with streaming audio and video. Although based on musicology, Pandora receives new music from both independent and major labels,Westergren said. Seventy percent of the 100,000 songs played daily on the new Google Android phones. The future of services like these is uncertain, but the music industry and PC vendors could be on a collision course with streaming audio and video. Although based on musicology, Pandora receives new music from both independent and major labels,Westergren said. Seventy percent of the 100,000 songs played daily on the new Google Android phones. The future of services like these is uncertain, but the music industry and PC vendors could be on a collision course with streaming audio and video. Although based on musicology, Pandora receives new music from both independent and major labels,Westergren said. Seventy percent of the 100,000 songs played daily on the new Google Android phones. The future of services like these is uncertain, but the music industry and PC vendors could be on a collision course with streaming audio and video. Although based on musicology, Pandora receives new music from both independent and major labels,Westergren said. Seventy percent of the 100,000 songs played daily on the new Google Android phones. The future of services like these is uncertain, but the music industry and PC vendors could be on a collision course with streaming audio and video. Although based on musicology, Pandora receives new music from both independent and major labels,Westergren said. Seventy percent of the 100,000 songs played daily on the new Google Android phones. The future of services like these is uncertain, but the music industry and PC vendors could be on a collision course with streaming audio and video. Although based on musicology, Pandora receives new music from both independent and major labels,Westergren said. Seventy percent of the 100,000 songs played daily on the new Google Android phones. The future of services like these is uncertain, but the music industry and PC vendors could be on a collision course with streaming audio and video. Although based on musicology, Pandora receives new music from both independent and major labels,Westergren said. Seventy percent of the 100,000 songs played daily on the new Google Android phones. The future of services like these is uncertain, but the music industry and PC vendors could be on a collision course with streaming audio and video. Although based on musicology, Pandora receives new music from both independent and major labels,Westergren said. Seventy percent of the 100,000 songs played daily on the new Google Android phones. The future of services like these is uncertain, but the music industry and PC vendors could be on a collision course with streaming audio and video. Although based on musicology, Pandora receives new music from both independent and major labels,Westergen said. Seventy percent of the 100,000 songs played daily on the }