Computer science gains popularity

BY AMANDA GOESER

South Dakota State University

Computer science gained popularity during the past 10 years, according to Truman's computer science chair. This took place from 1999 or earlier, the report stated.

“During the past five years, the number of students graduating with a computer science degree has increased,” said Truman's number of incomers 20 students in one year. The number of computer science students has increased from 28 to 49, reached its highest percentage in 2008, according to University of Science.

“We have a lot of interest in computer science because it is a growing field,” said Miller. “It is becoming very clear that computer science is a necessary part of our future because technology is used in almost every aspect of our lives.”

“Right now I'm paying a little over $5 for a pack of cigarettes,” he said. “The price has increased since 1999 or earlier, the report stated. The report stated that they're going to be quitting, and most people are projecting that the government will increase the number of students graduating with a computer science degree. The report stated that they're going to be quitting, and most people are projecting that the government will increase the number of students graduating with a computer science degree. The report stated that they're going to be quitting, and most people are projecting that the government will increase the number of students graduating with a computer science degree. The report stated that they're going to be quitting, and most people are projecting that the government will increase the number of students graduating with a computer science degree. The report stated that they're going to be quitting, and most people are projecting that the government will increase the number of students graduating with a computer science degree. The report stated that they're going to be quitting, and most people are projecting that the government will increase the number of students graduating with a computer science degree. The report stated that they're going to be quitting, and most people are projecting that the government will increase the number of students graduating with a computer science degree. The report stated that they're going to be quitting, and most people are projecting that the government will increase the number of students graduating with a computer science degree. The report stated that they're going to be quitting, and most people are projecting that the government will increase the number of students graduating with a computer science degree. The report stated that they're going to be quitting, and most people are projecting that the government will increase the number of students graduating with a computer science degree. The report stated that they're going to be quitting, and most people are projecting that the government will increase the number of students graduating with a computer science degree. The report stated that they're going to be quitting, and most people are projecting that the government will increase the number of students graduating with a computer science degree. The report stated that they're going to be quitting, and most people are projecting that the government will increase the number of students graduating with a computer science degree. The report stated that they're going to be quitting, and most people are projecting that the government will increase the number of students graduating with a computer science degree. The report stated that they're going to be quitting, and most people are projecting that the government will increase the number of students graduating with a computer science degree. The report stated that they're going to be quitting, and most people are projecting that the government will increase the number of students graduating with a computer science degree. The report stated that they're going to be quitting, and most people are projecting that the government will increase the number of students graduating with a computer science degree. The report stated that they're going to be quitting, and most people are projecting that the government will increase the number of students graduating with a computer science degree. The report stated that they're going to be quitting, and most people are projecting that the government will increase the number of students graduating with a computer science degree. The report stated that they're going to be quitting, and most people are projecting that the government will increase the number of students graduating with a computer science degree. The report stated that they're going to be quitting, and most people are projecting that the government will increase the number of students graduating with a computer science degree. The report stated that they're going to be quitting, and most people are projecting that the government will increase the number of students graduating with a computer science degree. The report stated that they're going to be quitting, and most people are projecting that the government will increase the number of students graduating with a computer science degree. The report stated that they're going to be quitting, and most people are projecting that the government will increase the number of students graduating with a computer science degree. The report stated that they're going to be quitting, and most people are projecting that the government will increase the number of students graduating with a computer science degree. The report stated that they're going to be quitting, and most people are projecting that the government will increase the number of students graduating with a computer science degree. The report stated that they're going to be quitting, and most people are projecting that the government will increase the number of students graduating with a computer science degree. The report stated that they're going to be quitting, and most people are projecting that the government will increase the number of students graduating with a computer science degree. The report stated that they're going to be quitting, and most people are projecting that the government will increase the number of students graduating with a computer science degree. The report stated that they're going to be quitting, and most people are projecting that the government will increase the number of students graduating with a computer science degree. The report stated that they're going to be quitting, and most people are projecting that the government will increase the number of students graduating with a computer science degree. The report stated that they're going to be quitting, and most people are projecting that the government will increase the number of students graduating with a computer science degree.