In one of its toughest meets this season, the women's indoor track and field team finished fourth at the NCAA Championships in Houston, Texas. The men left with provincial pride and a first-place finish in the 4x100 relay. The men's indoor team finished 11th overall and left with provincial pride and a first-place finish in the 4x100 relay.

“Interestingly enough, I think the guys’ relay, but the guys are a solid good performance on both of the relay, and the women’s relay was fantastic for both of the relay,” women’s relay coach Randy Martin said. “The women’s relay had a little bit more of a competitive than the guy’s relay, but the guys were a solid good performance on both of the relay, and the women’s relay was fantastic for both of the relay.”

One change for the women’s competition came from the addition of the University of the Sciences, which allowed Truman’s men to qualify for the NCAA Div. II national meet for the first time, according to head coach Bobbi Aherne.
