A Kirksville woman was arrested Wednesday for vandalizing Sen. Barack Obama’s (D-Ill.) and Sen. Hillary Rodham Clinton’s (D-N.Y.) campaign signs.

Debra J. Coddren, 33, was arrested shortly after she was charged with defacing Obama and Clinton signs at the Adair County Democratic headquarters on Tuesday.

“Unfortunately, given what happened, we have to look into this,” said Missouri State’s Office of State Public Safety Director Jack Kline.

It was not clear Wednesday how the signs were defaced.

According to a Missouri State’s Office of State Public Safety release, an investigator interviewed Coddren and took her into custody. Coddren then admitted that she placed stickers on the signs Tuesday, basically at the Adair County Democratic headquarters.

According to the Missouri State’s Office of State Public Safety release, the signs were defaced with stickers. The release states that the signs were defaced with stickers because they were supporting the Democratic party.
