The women's tennis team finished off their undefeated fall season today with an 8-1 win against Upper Iowa University. The No. 1 doubles team continued their impressive run as they defeated their doubles opponents 6-0. The Bulldogs' only loss came from freshman Daniele Velez, after the team lost to the No. 1 doubles team 6-2.

"I played really well," sophomore Ellen Lestmann said. "I played really well [Monday], but it was a lot tougher today. There were more wind. It was tougher to hit the ball as [Monday], but it was a lot tougher today. There were more wind. It was tougher to hit the ball as well as I did [Monday]."

The women also competed in a "super-dual" match against William Jewell College on Saturday. The match was more a super-tiebreaker because no team scores were kept. The Bulldogs finished ahead of the underclassmen who led the way to the top-three finish to help the women win their recent tournaments near the top-five rankings.

"There were a lot of competitive matches today, so it was more just working on subtle things that we normally do," Walther said.

When the men and women competed on opposite days earlier this year, the team had a tournament at Millikin University Fall Invitational. On the men's side, it was the Bulldogs who led the way to the top-three finish.

"I think it's good for our team to manage things like coming to the net and passing where they needed to. We didn't do that a lot," Walther said. "I think it's a sign that we will be very competitive."
