Books create unnecessary costs for students

Shawn Shimmeman

I can’t believe that a book could cost $240. I’ve been going out of my mind over here trying to get the books I need. Seeing this is not true, I was surprised. In college you don’t need to spend a lot of money on books, especially with electronic texts. They are usually available for a fraction of the price. There is a website called chegg.com that offers used books for a fifth of the price. Chegg has a three-day return policy. This is a great website to use when you need books quickly. I think that this system should be considered in the future. I also think that this system would be beneficial in the future because of the ease of access. I think that this system will continue to grow in the future.

I am a freshman at Truman. I think that this is a good idea because it will lower the cost of books for students. I think that this system should be implemented at other colleges as well. I think that this system is a great idea and I hope that it will be implemented at other colleges.

I believe that there should be a system in place for students to be able to access electronic textbooks. This would save students a lot of money and it would be a great way to lower the cost of education. I think that this system should be implemented at other colleges.
