Campus changes over years

The year 1923 was the last defining year that Truman's campus recognized student union Old Baldwin Hall.

Old Baldwin Hall was razed and renovated Baldwin Hall in 2006.

In the last 143 years since Truman's first academic building, Old Baldwin Hall was the first library on campus.

There was a gymnasium situated on the third floor and the library was on the third floor.

A steel bridge led from the entrance of campus on the north side to Old Baldwin Hall.

The lake was located in the center of campus on the way to Violette's museum.

This map shows buildings and attractions, such as Old Baldwin Hall and Wisdom Lake, in their original location before renovations took place. Custodian John J. Jack used to guard the lake from students who attempted to swim in the water despite the restriction.

Campus changes over years

In the last 143 years since Truman's first academic building, Old Baldwin Hall was the first library on campus.

There was a gymnasium situated on the third floor and the library was on the third floor.

A steel bridge led from the entrance of campus on the north side to Old Baldwin Hall.

The lake was located in the center of campus on the way to Violette's museum.

This map shows buildings and attractions, such as Old Baldwin Hall and Wisdom Lake, in their original location before renovations took place. Custodian John J. Jack used to guard the lake from students who attempted to swim in the water despite the restriction.

Campus changes over years

In the last 143 years since Truman's first academic building, Old Baldwin Hall was the first library on campus.

There was a gymnasium situated on the third floor and the library was on the third floor.

A steel bridge led from the entrance of campus on the north side to Old Baldwin Hall.

The lake was located in the center of campus on the way to Violette's museum.

This map shows buildings and attractions, such as Old Baldwin Hall and Wisdom Lake, in their original location before renovations took place. Custodian John J. Jack used to guard the lake from students who attempted to swim in the water despite the restriction.