On campus

Men’s on campus:
Basketball: 3:00 p.m. Dec. 5 vs. Pittsburg St.

Women’s on campus:
Basketball: 1:30 p.m. Dec. 5 vs. Pittsburg St.

Records

Men’s Basketball:
(1-4 overall) (0-1 MIAA)

Women’s Basketball:
(3-0 overall) (0-1 MIAA)

Quoteable

“I think I can be up there with the Allie Chervens and the Lisa Webers. She proved that this year... if she continues to improve her blocking, she will become an incredibly dominant middle blocker. And I know she’s going to do it, because that’s just Megan’s attitude.”

— Head volleyball coach Ben Briney, on freshman middle blocker Megan Sharpe

Sharper Image

Megan Sharpe Fact File

22, he exemplified his abilities of the men’s swimming team, showing his commitment to his academic success and his passion for the sport. From Nov. 19 to the end of his career, McCall has been a top-20 national student-athlete. He received a Rhodes Scholarship (see page 33) and was recognized as one of the men’s swimming team’s outstanding performers. He was an asset to the Bulldogs, helping them win an NCAA Division I championship in 2003.

PREVAILS

DEFENSE

Wednesday, December 3, 2009

BRENT FOSTER

Pershing parking should not deter fans

Whereas teens are generally affected, it is not true that all teens are affected.

drafting a story about a guy who you cannot tolerate. I can’t dream of playing vo tball in a university environment. If I played today, I would do it to accept the fact that I am not good. I can’t imagine spending 24 hours a week in the field for a top-20 national student-athlete. It played ma ter role in his high school career. He was an asset up the middle of the court, causing many teams to continue setting her up for middle attacks
or “It’s too cold out,” “I have to study”
or “It’s too far to
to the Bulldogs losing their opening game.

She just wanted it so bad for

Sharpe. She proved that this year. … If she con-

She’s going to do it, because that’s just

She can be a great middle blocker. Sharpe said. “I think she can be up there with the Allie Chervens and the Lisa Webers. She proved that this year… If she continues improving her blocking, she will become an incredibly dominant middle blocker. And I know she’s going to do it, because that’s just Megan’s attitude.”

— Head volleyball coach Ben Briney, on freshman middle blocker Megan Sharpe

Sharpe wins National Freshman of the Year

Middle blocker records second-highest hitting percentage at Truman

By JOE BELL

Staff Reporter

On the eve of the Bulldogs’ first and final match of the Sixth Con tinental Regional Championship, middle blocker Megan Sharpe stood outside of her hotel room

on the court, causing many teams to

was an asset up the middle of the court, causing many teams to

she is going to do it, because that’s just

Megan Sharpe Fact File

22, he exemplified his abilities of the men’s swimming team, showing his commitment to his academic success and his passion for the sport. From Nov. 19 to the end of his career, McCall has been a top-20 national student-athlete. He received a Rhodes Scholarship (see page 33) and was recognized as one of the men’s swimming team’s outstanding performers. He was an asset to the Bulldogs, helping them win an NCAA Division I championship in 2003.

PREVAILS

DEFENSE

Wednesday, December 3, 2009

BRENT FOSTER

Pershing parking should not deter fans

Whereas teens are generally affected, it is not true that all teens are affected.

drafting a story about a guy who you
cannot tolerate. I can’t dream of playing vo tball in a university environment. If I played today, I would do it to accept the fact that I am not good. I can’t imagine spending 24 hours a week in the field for a top-20 national student-athlete. It played ma ter role in his high school career. He was an asset up the middle of the court, causing many teams to continue setting her up for middle attacks
or “It’s too cold out,” “I have to study”
or “It’s too far to
to the Bulldogs losing their opening game.

She just wanted it so bad for

Sharpe. She proved that this year. … If she con-

She’s going to do it, because that’s just

She can be a great middle blocker. Sharpe said. “I think she can be up there with the Allie Chervens and the Lisa Webers. She proved that this year… If she continues improving her blocking, she will become an incredibly dominant middle blocker. And I know she’s going to do it, because that’s just Megan’s attitude.”

— Head volleyball coach Ben Briney, on freshman middle blocker Megan Sharpe

Sharpe wins National Freshman of the Year

Middle blocker records second-highest hitting percentage at Truman

By JOE BELL

Staff Reporter

On the eve of the Bulldogs’ first and final match of the Sixth Con tinental Regional Championship, middle blocker Megan Sharpe
stood outside of her hotel room

on the court, causing many teams to

was an asset up the middle of the court, causing many teams to

she is going to do it, because that’s just

Megan Sharpe Fact File

22, he exemplified his abilities of the men’s swimming team, showing his commitment to his academic success and his passion for the sport. From Nov. 19 to the end of his career, McCall has been a top-20 national student-athlete. He received a Rhodes Scholarship (see page 33) and was recognized as one of the men’s swimming team’s outstanding performers. He was an asset to the Bulldogs, helping them win an NCAA Division I championship in 2003.

PREVAILS

DEFENSE

Wednesday, December 3, 2009

BRENT FOSTER

Pershing parking should not deter fans

Whereas teens are generally affected, it is not true that all teens are affected.

drafting a story about a guy who you
cannot tolerate. I can’t dream of playing vo tball in a university environment. If I played today, I would do it to accept the fact that I am not good. I can’t imagine spending 24 hours a week in the field for a top-20 national student-athlete. It played ma ter role in his high school career. He was an asset up the middle of the court, causing many teams to continue setting her up for middle attacks
or “It’s too cold out,” “I have to study”
or “It’s too far to
to the Bulldogs losing their opening game.

She just wanted it so bad for

Sharpe. She proved that this year. … If she con-

She’s going to do it, because that’s just

She can be a great middle blocker. Sharpe said. “I think she can be up there with the Allie Chervens and the Lisa Webers. She proved that this year… If she continues improving her blocking, she will become an incredibly dominant middle blocker. And I know she’s going to do it, because that’s just Megan’s attitude.”

— Head volleyball coach Ben Briney, on freshman middle blocker Megan Sharpe

Sharpe wins National Freshman of the Year

Middle blocker records second-highest hitting percentage at Truman

By JOE BELL

Staff Reporter

On the eve of the Bulldogs’ first and final match of the Sixth Con tinental Regional Championship, middle blocker Megan Sharpe
stood outside of her hotel room

on the court, causing many teams to

was an asset up the middle of the court, causing many teams to

she is going to do it, because that’s just

Megan Sharpe Fact File

22, he exemplified his abilities of the men’s swimming team, showing his commitment to his academic success and his passion for the sport. From Nov. 19 to the end of his career, McCall has been a top-20 national student-athlete. He received a Rhodes Scholarship (see page 33) and was recognized as one of the men’s swimming team’s outstanding performers. He was an asset to the Bulldogs, helping them win an NCAA Division I championship in 2003.

PREVAILS

DEFENSE

Wednesday, December 3, 2009

BRENT FOSTER

Pershing parking should not deter fans

Whereas teens are generally affected, it is not true that all teens are affected.