BUDGET | McClanahan explains legislation she’s endorsing, the appropriations process and the budget for the upcoming year

Continued from Page 1

The statement also said that every employee of Learning Opportunities receives a background screening through the Missouri Disqualification List and training in areas, such as helping adults become self-sufficient and active members of their community or helping students prepare to enter the workforce and transition out of high school.

However, he said he chose to live off-campus will not receive a scholarship money for meal plans.

Continued from Page 1

But every little bit helps... It was nice to have that extra money which did not think retracting the allowance would pose serious financial problems for anyone.

I can’t imagine that it would make Truman unaffordable for anyone who was getting it... if you think about the expenses of non-Pershing students who have to

However, he said cuts in some programs, McClanahan said, would not cover a great deal of off-campus expenses since it would make Truman cheaper, under the new policy, for students to live on campus, he thinks many students will still choose the freedom and privacy off-campus living.

Kirksville man sentenced to seven years in prison after pleading guilty in October to second degree sodomy with a juvenile

Continued from Page 1

In exchange for the guilty plea, the state dropped charges of a second count of second-degree statutory sodomy and a Class B misdemeanor charge of compelling or attempting to furnish pornographic materials to a minor.

When asked if he would do it again, McClanahan said, “We’re in the process of going through the budget and so the budget will come out of the appropriation process. I know that the House has gotten caught up in a political agenda rather than focusing on legislative activities because there has been for second-degree statutory sodomy.

He said the Kirksville economy is better than the rest of the northeast region and state.

Continued from Page 1

He said the Kirksville economy is better than the rest of the northeast region and state. However, he said cuts in some programs could undermine health care, one of the pillars of Kirkville’s economic development. McClanahan said an unusual amount of problems have emerged this year in the House. She said representatives have gotten caught up in a political agenda rather than focusing on legislative activities because there has been for second-degree statutory sodomy.

He said the Kirksville economy is better than the rest of the northeast region and state. However, he said cuts in some programs could undermine health care, one of the pillars of Kirkville’s economic development. McClanahan said an unusual amount of problems have emerged this year in the House. She said representatives have gotten caught up in a political agenda rather than focusing on legislative activities because there has been for second-degree statutory sodomy.

He said the Kirksville economy is better than the rest of the northeast region and state. However, he said cuts in some programs could undermine health care, one of the pillars of Kirkville’s economic development. McClanahan said an unusual amount of problems have emerged this year in the House. She said representatives have gotten caught up in a political agenda rather than focusing on legislative activities because there has been for second-degree statutory sodomy.

He said the Kirksville economy is better than the rest of the northeast region and state. However, he said cuts in some programs could undermine health care, one of the pillars of Kirkville’s economic development. McClanahan said an unusual amount of problems have emerged this year in the House. She said representatives have gotten caught up in a political agenda rather than focusing on legislative activities because there has been for second-degree statutory sodomy.

He said the Kirksville economy is better than the rest of the northeast region and state. However, he said cuts in some programs could undermine health care, one of the pillars of Kirkville’s economic development. McClanahan said an unusual amount of problems have emerged this year in the House. She said representatives have gotten caught up in a political agenda rather than focusing on legislative activities because there has been for second-degree statutory sodomy.

He said the Kirksville economy is better than the rest of the northeast region and state. However, he said cuts in some programs could undermine health care, one of the pillars of Kirkville’s economic development. McClanahan said an unusual amount of problems have emerged this year in the House. She said representatives have gotten caught up in a political agenda rather than focusing on legislative activities because there has been for second-degree statutory sodomy.

He said the Kirksville economy is better than the rest of the northeast region and state. However, he said cuts in some programs could undermine health care, one of the pillars of Kirkville’s economic development. McClanahan said an unusual amount of problems have emerged this year in the House. She said representatives have gotten caught up in a political agenda rather than focusing on legislative activities because there has been for second-degree statutory sodomy.

He said the Kirksville economy is better than the rest of the northeast region and state. However, he said cuts in some programs could undermine health care, one of the pillars of Kirkville’s economic development. McClanahan said an unusual amount of problems have emerged this year in the House. She said representatives have gotten caught up in a political agenda rather than focusing on legislative activities because there has been for second-degree statutory sodomy.

He said the Kirksville economy is better than the rest of the northeast region and state. However, he said cuts in some programs could undermine health care, one of the pillars of Kirkville’s economic development. McClanahan said an unusual amount of problems have emerged this year in the House. She said representatives have gotten caught up in a political agenda rather than focusing on legislative activities because there has been for second-degree statutory sodomy.

He said the Kirksville economy is better than the rest of the northeast region and state. However, he said cuts in some programs could undermine health care, one of the pillars of Kirkville’s economic development. McClanahan said an unusual amount of problems have emerged this year in the House. She said representatives have gotten caught up in a political agenda rather than focusing on legislative activities because there has been for second-degree statutory sodomy.

He said the Kirksville economy is better than the rest of the northeast region and state. However, he said cuts in some programs could undermine health care, one of the pillars of Kirkville’s economic development. McClanahan said an unusual amount of problems have emerged this year in the House. She said representatives have gotten caught up in a political agenda rather than focusing on legislative activities because there has been for second-degree statutory sodomy.

He said the Kirksville economy is better than the rest of the northeast region and state. However, he said cuts in some programs could undermine health care, one of the pillars of Kirkville’s economic development. McClanahan said an unusual amount of problems have emerged this year in the House. She said representatives have gotten caught up in a political agenda rather than focusing on legislative activities because there has been for second-degree statutory sodomy.

He said the Kirksville economy is better than the rest of the northeast region and state. However, he said cuts in some programs could undermine health care, one of the pillars of Kirkville’s economic development. McClanahan said an unusual amount of problems have emerged this year in the House. She said representatives have gotten caught up in a political agenda rather than focusing on legislative activities because there has been for second-degree statutory sodomy.

He said the Kirksville economy is better than the rest of the northeast region and state. However, he said cuts in some programs could undermine health care, one of the pillars of Kirkville’s economic development. McClanahan said an unusual amount of problems have emerged this year in the House. She said representatives have gotten caught up in a political agenda rather than focusing on legislative activities because there has been for second-degree statutory sodomy.

He said the Kirksville economy is better than the rest of the northeast region and state. However, he said cuts in some programs could undermine health care, one of the pillars of Kirkville’s economic development. McClanahan said an unusual amount of problems have emerged this year in the House. She said representatives have gotten caught up in a political agenda rather than focusing on legislative activities because there has been for second-degree statutory sodomy.

He said the Kirksville economy is better than the rest of the northeast region and state. However, he said cuts in some programs could undermine health care, one of the pillars of Kirkville’s economic development. McClanahan said an unusual amount of problems have emerged this year in the House. She said representatives have gotten caught up in a political agenda rather than focusing on legislative activities because there has been for second-degree statutory sodomy.

He said the Kirksville economy is better than the rest of the northeast region and state. However, he said cuts in some programs could undermine health care, one of the pillars of Kirkville’s economic development. McClanahan said an unusual amount of problems have emerged this year in the House. She said representatives have gotten caught up in a political agenda rather than focusing on legislative activities because there has been for second-degree statutory sodomy.

He said the Kirksville economy is better than the rest of the northeast region and state. However, he said cuts in some programs could undermine health care, one of the pillars of Kirkville’s economic development. McClanahan said an unusual amount of problems have emerged this year in the House. She said representatives have gotten caught up in a political agenda rather than focusing on legislative activities because there has been for second-degree statutory sodomy.

He said the Kirksville economy is better than the rest of the northeast region and state. However, he said cuts in some programs could undermine health care, one of the pillars of Kirkville’s economic development. McClanahan said an unusual amount of problems have emerged this year in the House. She said representatives have gotten caught up in a political agenda rather than focusing on legislative activities because there has been for second-degree statutory sodomy.

He said the Kirksville economy is better than the rest of the northeast region and state. However, he said cuts in some programs could undermine health care, one of the pillars of Kirkville’s economic development. McClanahan said an unusual amount of problems have emerged this year in the House. She said representatives have gotten caught up in a political agenda rather than focusing on legislative activities because there has been for second-degree statutory sodomy.

He said the Kirksville economy is better than the rest of the northeast region and state. However, he said cuts in some programs could undermine health care, one of the pillars of Kirkville’s economic development. McClanahan said an unusual amount of problems have emerged this year in the House. She said representatives have gotten caught up in a political agenda rather than focusing on legislative activities because there has been for second-degree statutory sodomy.