Paino prepares for presidential forum
By Blake Hart-Schweitz
News Editor

Thursday, January 14, 2010
The University’s student-produced newspaper
KIRKSVILLE MO, 63501

State drops one charge for Rodgers
By Jessica Koch
Managing Editor

City councilmember and St. Luke’s Baptist Church pastor David Rodgers has been accused of a domestic disturbance of one of two charges stemming from a domestic dispute with his estranged wife, Barbara Dixon’s, children.

The case dropped because,“Mistaken identity,” said John Dixon, director of the Kirksville Domestic Relations Court.

Maston loses appeal for new trial
By Elisabeth Burns
Associate Editor

Southside Baptist Church pastor Kirk Masten will remain in jail.

Masten’s attorney, Aaron Smith, filed a motion for a new trial, but Judge Rade Richey denied the motion earlier this week.

The day after she stepped down from her post as Truman’s 14th president, Barbara Dixon announced her resignation in September 2008.

State drops one charge for Rodgers
By Jessica Koch
Managing Editor

City councilmember and St. Luke’s Baptist Church pastor David Rodgers has been accused of a domestic disturbance of one of two charges stemming from a domestic dispute with his estranged wife, Barbara Dixon’s, children.

The case dropped because, “Mistaken identity,” said John Dixon, director of the Kirksville Domestic Relations Court.

Maston loses appeal for new trial
By Elisabeth Burns
Associate Editor

Southside Baptist Church pastor Kirk Masten will remain in jail.

Masten’s attorney, Aaron Smith, filed a motion for a new trial, but Judge Rade Richey denied the motion earlier this week.

The day after she stepped down from her post as Truman’s 14th president, Barbara Dixon announced her resignation in September 2008.

State drops one charge for Rodgers
By Jessica Koch
Managing Editor

City councilmember and St. Luke’s Baptist Church pastor David Rodgers has been accused of a domestic disturbance of one of two charges stemming from a domestic dispute with his estranged wife, Barbara Dixon’s, children.

The case dropped because, “Mistaken identity,” said John Dixon, director of the Kirksville Domestic Relations Court.

Maston loses appeal for new trial
By Elisabeth Burns
Associate Editor

Southside Baptist Church pastor Kirk Masten will remain in jail.

Masten’s attorney, Aaron Smith, filed a motion for a new trial, but Judge Rade Richey denied the motion earlier this week.

The day after she stepped down from her post as Truman’s 14th president, Barbara Dixon announced her resignation in September 2008.

State drops one charge for Rodgers
By Jessica Koch
Managing Editor

City councilmember and St. Luke’s Baptist Church pastor David Rodgers has been accused of a domestic disturbance of one of two charges stemming from a domestic dispute with his estranged wife, Barbara Dixon’s, children.

The case dropped because, “Mistaken identity,” said John Dixon, director of the Kirksville Domestic Relations Court.

Maston loses appeal for new trial
By Elisabeth Burns
Associate Editor

Southside Baptist Church pastor Kirk Masten will remain in jail.

Masten’s attorney, Aaron Smith, filed a motion for a new trial, but Judge Rade Richey denied the motion earlier this week.

The day after she stepped down from her post as Truman’s 14th president, Barbara Dixon announced her resignation in September 2008.

State drops one charge for Rodgers
By Jessica Koch
Managing Editor

City councilmember and St. Luke’s Baptist Church pastor David Rodgers has been accused of a domestic disturbance of one of two charges stemming from a domestic dispute with his estranged wife, Barbara Dixon’s, children.

The case dropped because, “Mistaken identity,” said John Dixon, director of the Kirksville Domestic Relations Court.

Maston loses appeal for new trial
By Elisabeth Burns
Associate Editor

Southside Baptist Church pastor Kirk Masten will remain in jail.

Masten’s attorney, Aaron Smith, filed a motion for a new trial, but Judge Rade Richey denied the motion earlier this week.

The day after she stepped down from her post as Truman’s 14th president, Barbara Dixon announced her resignation in September 2008.

State drops one charge for Rodgers
By Jessica Koch
Managing Editor

City councilmember and St. Luke’s Baptist Church pastor David Rodgers has been accused of a domestic disturbance of one of two charges stemming from a domestic dispute with his estranged wife, Barbara Dixon’s, children.

The case dropped because, “Mistaken identity,” said John Dixon, director of the Kirksville Domestic Relations Court.

Maston loses appeal for new trial
By Elisabeth Burns
Associate Editor

Southside Baptist Church pastor Kirk Masten will remain in jail.

Masten’s attorney, Aaron Smith, filed a motion for a new trial, but Judge Rade Richey denied the motion earlier this week.

The day after she stepped down from her post as Truman’s 14th president, Barbara Dixon announced her resignation in September 2008.

State drops one charge for Rodgers
By Jessica Koch
Managing Editor

City councilmember and St. Luke’s Baptist Church pastor David Rodgers has been accused of a domestic disturbance of one of two charges stemming from a domestic dispute with his estranged wife, Barbara Dixon’s, children.

The case dropped because, “Mistaken identity,” said John Dixon, director of the Kirksville Domestic Relations Court.

Maston loses appeal for new trial
By Elisabeth Burns
Associate Editor

Southside Baptist Church pastor Kirk Masten will remain in jail.

Masten’s attorney, Aaron Smith, filed a motion for a new trial, but Judge Rade Richey denied the motion earlier this week.

The day after she stepped down from her post as Truman’s 14th president, Barbara Dixon announced her resignation in September 2008.

State drops one charge for Rodgers
By Jessica Koch
Managing Editor

City councilmember and St. Luke’s Baptist Church pastor David Rodgers has been accused of a domestic disturbance of one of two charges stemming from a domestic dispute with his estranged wife, Barbara Dixon’s, children.

The case dropped because, “Mistaken identity,” said John Dixon, director of the Kirksville Domestic Relations Court.

Maston loses appeal for new trial
By Elisabeth Burns
Associate Editor

Southside Baptist Church pastor Kirk Masten will remain in jail.

Masten’s attorney, Aaron Smith, filed a motion for a new trial, but Judge Rade Richey denied the motion earlier this week.

The day after she stepped down from her post as Truman’s 14th president, Barbara Dixon announced her resignation in September 2008.

State drops one charge for Rodgers
By Jessica Koch
Managing Editor

City councilmember and St. Luke’s Baptist Church pastor David Rodgers has been accused of a domestic disturbance of one of two charges stemming from a domestic dispute with his estranged wife, Barbara Dixon’s, children.

The case dropped because, “Mistaken identity,” said John Dixon, director of the Kirksville Domestic Relations Court.

Maston loses appeal for new trial
By Elisabeth Burns
Associate Editor

Southside Baptist Church pastor Kirk Masten will remain in jail.

Masten’s attorney, Aaron Smith, filed a motion for a new trial, but Judge Rade Richey denied the motion earlier this week.

The day after she stepped down from her post as Truman’s 14th president, Barbara Dixon announced her resignation in September 2008.

State drops one charge for Rodgers
By Jessica Koch
Managing Editor

City councilmember and St. Luke’s Baptist Church pastor David Rodgers has been accused of a domestic disturbance of one of two charges stemming from a domestic dispute with his estranged wife, Barbara Dixon’s, children.

The case dropped because, “Mistaken identity,” said John Dixon, director of the Kirksville Domestic Relations Court.

Maston loses appeal for new trial
By Elisabeth Burns
Associate Editor

Southside Baptist Church pastor Kirk Masten will remain in jail.

Masten’s attorney, Aaron Smith, filed a motion for a new trial, but Judge Rade Richey denied the motion earlier this week.

The day after she stepped down from her post as Truman’s 14th president, Barbara Dixon announced her resignation in September 2008.

State drops one charge for Rodgers
By Jessica Koch
Managing Editor

City councilmember and St. Luke’s Baptist Church pastor David Rodgers has been accused of a domestic disturbance of one of two charges stemming from a domestic dispute with his estranged wife, Barbara Dixon’s, children.

The case dropped because, “Mistaken identity,” said John Dixon, director of the Kirksville Domestic Relations Court.

Maston loses appeal for new trial
By Elisabeth Burns
Associate Editor

Southside Baptist Church pastor Kirk Masten will remain in jail.

Masten’s attorney, Aaron Smith, filed a motion for a new trial, but Judge Rade Richey denied the motion earlier this week.

The day after she stepped down from her post as Truman’s 14th president, Barbara Dixon announced her resignation in September 2008.

State drops one charge for Rodgers
By Jessica Koch
Managing Editor

City councilmember and St. Luke’s Baptist Church pastor David Rodgers has been accused of a domestic disturbance of one of two charges stemming from a domestic dispute with his estranged wife, Barbara Dixon’s, children.

The case dropped because, “Mistaken identity,” said John Dixon, director of the Kirksville Domestic Relations Court.

Maston loses appeal for new trial
By Elisabeth Burns
Associate Editor

Southside Baptist Church pastor Kirk Masten will remain in jail.

Masten’s attorney, Aaron Smith, filed a motion for a new trial, but Judge Rade Richey denied the motion earlier this week.

The day after she stepped down from her post as Truman’s 14th president, Barbara Dixon announced her resignation in September 2008.

State drops one charge for Rodgers
By Jessica Koch
Managing Editor

City councilmember and St. Luke’s Baptist Church pastor David Rodgers has been accused of a domestic disturbance of one of two charges stemming from a domestic dispute with his estranged wife, Barbara Dixon’s, children.

The case dropped because, “Mistaken identity,” said John Dixon, director of the Kirksville Domestic Relations Court.

Maston loses appeal for new trial
By Elisabeth Burns
Associate Editor

Southside Baptist Church pastor Kirk Masten will remain in jail.

Masten’s attorney,Aaron Smith, filed a motion for a new trial, but Judge Rade Richey denied the motion earlier this week.

The day after she stepped down from her post as Truman’s 14th president, Barbara Dixon announced her resignation in September 2008.