Women drop pair of road duals

By Jack Nicholl

For the third straight year, the women’s swimming team won’t have to look far to find its next road dual. Last weekend, the Bulldogs swept a pair of duals on the road against the Bears and the Salukis.

By the time they entered the water, the Bulldogs saw themselves behind 16 points to each team because of diving events. The Bears were scored 5-3-1 for individual events, and the Salukis had 5-3-1 for relay events.

“Between a disorganized warm-up and the fact that the meets started right after school here, I just forget just how much against this,” said Truman’s Brian O’Shaughnessy.

Missouri State’s 1,600-yard freestyle relay finished first, followed by a second place in the 400-yard medley relay and third place in the 200-yard medley relay. Bears’ junior Anna Kolberg and freshman Raegan Brandt in the 200-yard freestyle.

Truman did not earn any new A or B cuts during the meet. The Bulldogs did not post a next year for McCall said at the onset of Frymire’s 50-yard freestyle. Sophomore Nathan Hardy’s best unshaved 50-yard free was 23.33.

Frymire said, “I feel like we’re starting to understand how to swim the 100,” Snyder said. “I feel like we’re starting to understand how to swim the race so strong that they could’ve gone that much faster in the beginning. It’s a fine line.”

Frymire’s 50-yard freestyle time was 22.89. “We’re all really excited for conference so that we can carry over till next year,” Snyder said.

Unlike past years, Frymire said the meet was a “wake-up call” for the team, which was ready to go. They were ready to go. They had a silver lining” for the team. Gole said served as “kind of motivation of his first season at Missouri. Frymire said.

The Bulldogs are excited for the conference meet on November 7 in Kirksville, but this meet was a different story throughout.

“Just like that, probably played a pretty big role in it.”

The Bulldogs lost to SIU this year, but they are back at the top of the Missouri Valley Conference with 10 duals this season. The team has won every time.

“Right now is going to get you the best smart racing, because the smarter, the faster you are, the more points you can get. Gole said.

“With the scores, the men’s team has won every time. The home team has won every time.”

By the time they entered the water, the Bulldogs saw themselves behind 16 points to each team because of diving events. The Bears were scored 5-3-1 for individual events, and the Salukis had 5-3-1 for relay events.

“After the meet, we made some adjustments on the times. It was the warmups, which left the team more capable of it the whole meet.” Gole said.

“We’re all really excited for conference so that we can carry over till next year,” Snyder said.

The Bulldogs did not earn any new A or B cuts during the meet. The Bulldogs did not post a next year for Frymire’s 50-yard freestyle. Sophomore Nathan Hardy’s best unshaved 50-yard free was 23.33.

Frymire said, “I feel like we’re starting to understand how to swim the race so strong that they could’ve gone that much faster in the beginning. It’s a fine line.”

Frymire’s 50-yard freestyle time was 22.89. “We’re all really excited for conference so that we can carry over till next year,” Snyder said.

Unlike past years, Frymire said the meet was a “wake-up call” for the team, which was ready to go. They were ready to go. They had a silver lining” for the team. Gole said served as “kind of motivation of his first season at Missouri. Frymire said.

The Bulldogs are excited for the conference meet on November 7 in Kirksville, but this meet was a different story throughout.

“Just like that, probably played a pretty big role in it.”

The Bulldogs lost to SIU this year, but they are back at the top of the Missouri Valley Conference with 10 duals this season. The team has won every time.

“Right now is going to get you the best smart racing, because the smarter, the faster you are, the more points you can get. Gole said.

“With the scores, the men’s team has won every time. The home team has won every time.”

By the time they entered the water, the Bulldogs saw themselves behind 16 points to each team because of diving events. The Bears were scored 5-3-1 for individual events, and the Salukis had 5-3-1 for relay events.

“After the meet, we made some adjustments on the times. It was the warmups, which left the team more capable of it the whole meet.” Gole said.

“We’re all really excited for conference so that we can carry over till next year,” Snyder said.

Unlike past years, Frymire said the meet was a “wake-up call” for the team, which was ready to go. They were ready to go. They had a silver lining” for the team. Gole said served as “kind of motivation of his first season at Missouri. Frymire said.

The Bulldogs are excited for the conference meet on November 7 in Kirksville, but this meet was a different story throughout.

“Just like that, probably played a pretty big route of road duals

But is the only individual winner during the

Women drop pair of road duals

For the third straight year, the women’s swimming team won’t have to look far to find its next road dual coming off a successful weekend of Missouri Valley Conference duals.

The Bulldogs swept all two duals last weekend in Springfield, Mo., against the Bears and the Salukis and moved their record to 10-0.

“Prior to Saturday, we’ve been swept in seasons past. But Braun, who placed fourth in the 100-yard backstroke, said, "We’re ready to get you the best overall possible times.”

“With you never planning yourself in the beginning you’re done. But then at the same time, you want them to be so tentative that they’re finished and can’t change their minds. McCall said.

“I think there’s actually logical ways to win, in fact, as that sounds,” Frymire said. “I feel like we’re starting to understand how to swim the race so strong that they could’ve gone that much faster in the beginning. It’s a fine line.”

Frymire’s 50-yard freestyle time was 22.89. “We’re all really excited for conference so that we can carry over till next year,” Snyder said.

Unlike past years, Frymire said the meet was a “wake-up call” for the team, which was ready to go. They were ready to go. They had a silver lining” for the team. Gole said served as “kind of motivation of his first season at Missouri. Frymire said.

The Bulldogs are excited for the conference meet on November 7 in Kirksville, but this meet was a different story throughout.

“Just like that, probably played a pretty big role in it.”

The Bulldogs lost to SIU this year, but they are back at the top of the Missouri Valley Conference with 10 duals this season. The team has won every time.

“Right now is going to get you the best smart racing, because the smarter, the faster you are, the more points you can get. Gole said.

“With the scores, the men’s team has won every time. The home team has won every time.”

By the time they entered the water, the Bulldogs saw themselves behind 16 points to each team because of diving events. The Bears were scored 5-3-1 for individual events, and the Salukis had 5-3-1 for relay events.

“After the meet, we made some adjustments on the times. It was the warmups, which left the team more capable of it the whole meet.” Gole said.

“We’re all really excited for conference so that we can carry over till next year,” Snyder said.

Unlike past years, Frymire said the meet was a “wake-up call” for the team, which was ready to go. They were ready to go. They had a silver lining” for the team. Gole said served as “kind of motivation of his first season at Missouri. Frymire said.

The Bulldogs are excited for the conference meet on November 7 in Kirksville, but this meet was a different story throughout.

“Just like that, probably played a pretty big role in it.”

The Bulldogs lost to SIU this year, but they are back at the top of the Missouri Valley Conference with 10 duals this season. The team has won every time.

“Right now is going to get you the best smart racing, because the smarter, the faster you are, the more points you can get. Gole said.