Freshman Colin Schmitz has been dealt with knee injury. He needs to really start to get back from this, but we're really going to try to guard us," Schrader said. "We're making someone else beat them.

"In the past, we've always had a tournament," Schrader said. "We've been solid and we're starting to dig our way out of a hole."

If Schrader continues to be on the court in the key moments, the Bulldogs will have another solid and dependable player on their lineup.

"If you can't beat us, don't try," Schrader said. "We're going to try to beat them and make them lose."

Braidsow faces the challenge of playing time and production this season.

"We have the potential to be really good," Schrader said. "We just need to stay healthy through this whole time."

"We're really going to try to beat them," Schrader said. "I don't know what we need to do to beat them, but we've got to beat them."

Braidsow is one of two MIAA conference teams who haven't played in a tournament.

"We're one of the two conference teams that haven't played in the tournament," Schrader said. "We've got a lot of potential and nothing else can hold us back."

Schutter said. "As long as we keep playing hard, we can compete."

"We're working hard and getting guys to work hard, and getting guys to work hard, and getting guys to work hard," Schutter said. "As long as we keep playing hard, we can compete."

"We're just trying to get better and make some progress," Schutter said. "We're really going to try to get better and make some progress."

"I'm really trying to get better and make some progress," Schutter said. "We're really going to try to get better and make some progress."