The drums and Kevin Lenz on vocals, Joe Baalmann on the brother of one of the band's in Saint Charles, Mo., through grand, a band that originated Detail.

an hour, followed by Truman's Building music show, Fireside Kirksville. He was born on a farm and Frank Gibbs for $3,500, beginning a $200. In 1853 the land was valued at $1,000. In 1871 the land was valued at $2,000. In 1890 located at 815 E. Illinois St.

BY RUSS BECKMAN

Historical Places

Reservations, several owners and death characteristics a home built in 1890 owned by S.E. Ellis in 1890. In 1890 George, a prominent photographer in the Kirksville area, built a small home. That home would eventually become the house currently known as the Dunbar house. Kirksville residents believe the house Frank Gibbs for $3,500, beginning a business, according to “The History of Adair County, Mo.,” by J. W. Pillsbury. Gibbs enlarged the original home by expanding the first floor and adding an extra bedroom. When Gibbs died in 1890, his son inherited the property. For some time until the marriage of the house, the house had a family living in it. The family lived there until about 1960, when they moved to another house in the Kirksville area.

Detail.

BY RUSSELL BECKMAN

Fireside Fridays along side Minor Detail.

The most entertaining aspect of the Dunbar house tours were the tours given by the current owners. The house contained several interesting items that the current owners had brought in from other locations, such as vintage furniture and paintings.

Band visits story of home's tragic past

The Dunbar house is a beautiful example of Colonial American architecture. The house was built in 1870 and has been restored to its original condition. The house is currently owned by a family who has lived there for over 150 years.

The most interesting feature of the Dunbar house is the detached garage. The garage was originally built as a workshop for the family, but it has since been converted into a comfortable living space. The garage is equipped with a kitchenette and a bathroom, and it is perfect for guests who are staying at the house.

The Dunbar house is located in downtown Kirksville, and it is open to the public for tours. The tours are led by the current owners, and they provide a wealth of information about the history of the house and the family who has lived there for so long.

The house is not only a beautiful example of Colonial American architecture, but it is also a symbol of the family's dedication to preserving their heritage. The family has worked hard to maintain the house in its original condition, and they are proud to share it with others who are interested in learning more about Kirksville's rich history.