TB case marks second since 2008

BY STEPHANIE HALL
News Editor

About 165 students and faculty will be tested after a case of active tuberculosis was confirmed at Truman.

When it came time to vote on the smoking resolution at the Student Senate meeting Friday night, the result was a vote to remove smoking. Two members abstained from voting, and one was absent.

The resolution began due to campus-wide smoking issues.

In the Student Center, a sign is placed on the wall near the elevators that reads “smoking is not allowed.” However, it is not posted to the extent where people can easily see it. Additionally, no signs are posted in any of the residence halls, so no one is aware of it.

Smoke prevention posters are only found in the Student Center, and even there they are not obvious. The only place where people are likely to find this information is on the website, which is not accessible to everyone.

The resolution could be summarized as this: “smoking is not allowed, and we don’t care.”

The resolution was written by the student affairs committee, and it was voted on by the Student Senate. The resolution did not pass, but the issue is not over yet.

The resolution was passed with a 26-23 vote, but because the students who voted against the resolution did not pass, they were not allowed to be brought up again. However, the students who voted for the resolution did not pass, they were allowed to be brought up again.

The resolution could be summarized as this: “smoking is not allowed, and we don’t care.”

The resolution was written by the student affairs committee, and it was voted on by the Student Senate. The resolution did not pass, but the issue is not over yet.

The resolution was passed with a 26-23 vote, but because the students who voted against the resolution did not pass, they were not allowed to be brought up again. However, the students who voted for the resolution did not pass, they were allowed to be brought up again.