Welcome to the Picks of the Week, where we update you about anything ranging from special events, movies, music and entertainment taking place around campus and Kirkville.

movies

American Horror Story: Coven
- The 4th season, titled “Election Year,” is returning to cable in October. It is not to be missed, as it is one of the few shows that can captivate your attention with each episode.

The Flash
- The season two finale will be airing on Oct. 8 at 8 p.m. on the CW. Grant Gustin’s portrayal of Barry Allen is a great addition to the show, and it’s a must-watch for anyone who loves superheroes.

Once Upon A Time
- The show has been a hit for the past six seasons, and it’s coming back with premieres in its seventh season. The show has been known for its twists and turns, and fans are excited to see what happens next.

music

Jason Aldean
- Aldean’s new album, “They Don’t Know,” is set to release on Oct. 7. The album features a mix of country and rock songs, and it’s sure to please fans of his previous work.

“Once Upon A Time”

The magically mismatched world of Storybrooke is back, and things are getting a bit heavy. “Once Upon A Time” is returning from a season that saw a twist on the Wicked Witch of the West. Now, the beloved Peter Pan and a sister rivalry between Regina and Snow White have finally come to a head. During season three, we saw an evil twist on the ever-dramatic lives of the Storybrooke residents. The show’s creators have introduced a new fairytale every season, and this year they’ve added Elsa from “Frozen” to the mix. While both Regina and Emma battle for the heart of Snow White, there’s no question Regina is an evil character, and Emma is her partner in crime.

As it often goes with the “Once Upon a Time” series, there are a lot of possibilities presented with this new addition to the show. Anna, Kristoff, Elsa, Sven, the rebels, and even Black evil once again officially have made their way to Storybrooke. Anna and Kristoff have some letting go to do, as they have to be married when Elsa discovers her mother’s old diary. It tells the two sisters their parents left on a voyage to help with Elsa’s “problem.” Elsa feels responsible for her parents’ death, while Anna is intrigued by the new discovery and decides to visit a.k.a., The Enchanted Forest. The backstory continues as the sisters of Snow White and Storybrooke together as Elsa is introduced into the “real world.” Thankfully, no one has told behind “Let It Go” yet, but a lot of the returning characters have some letting go to do of their own.

Actress Lana Parrilla, who plays Regina or the Evil Queen, got to shine off her fantastic skills at playing a villain yet again. Last season, the Evil Queen’s husband left her for his wife, Parrilla does a fantastic job at making the audience sympathize with Regina as a character, but I honestly can say I’m glad the anger and sans of the Evil Queen to back. The show lost some of its spark when Parrilla came to the good side. Thankfully, this season Robert Carlyle, continues his battle between the good and evil inside him. With Regina as a character, but I honestly can say I’m glad the anger and sans of the evil Queen to back. The show lost some of its spark when Parrilla came to the good side.
