NEWS

IN BRIEF

Truman State's masters program ranked No. 2 in the nation

Washington Monthly College Rankings named Truman State No. 2 in the nation in the Master's University category of its publication.

This is the second year in a row Truman has placed second in the category and it was the highest-ranked public school on the list.

Washington Monthly specifically applauded Truman's affordable tuition, graduation rates, and enrollment in the ROTC and Peace Corps.

Truman campus reduces utility costs and environmental harm

Truman is teaming up with Energy Solutions Professionals of Overland Park, Kansas, to refurbish 25 buildings on campus to reduce the school's annual utility costs and environmental impact.

The improvements are estimated to save the University more than $1 million each year. The improvements will cost $10.5 million.

Improvements will include new light fixtures, updating heating and cooling systems, and updating the ventilation systems of various buildings. The project also includes replacement of faucets, toilets, showerheads and energy management control systems.

The changes are expected to take 16 months to complete, but a few of the improvements were implemented during the summer.

Some of the buildings included in the renovations are McClain Hall, Magruder Hall, Pershing Building, Pickler Memorial Library and the Student Recreation Center.

The project is projected to eliminate 20 million pounds of carbon dioxide emissions per year for the school.

STUDENT SENATE

IN BRIEF

Senior Matthew Cooper and junior Christy Crouse were appointed to serve as committee chairs, and senior Christine Gooch was sworn in as senator.

The senate read the budget for the 2015-2016 fiscal year and highlighted changes in the spending.

The senate discussed the possibility of relocating the Sexual Assault Committee chair position from an Ad-Hoc chair to residing under the Health and Safety Committee, and the possibility of allocation of budgets.
