Blunt urges sell-off

by John Williams

COLUMBIA — Gov. Matt Blunt said Monday that he is considering sellingMOHELA, the state's' student loans agency, in a "no holds barred" auction to pay state capital projects.

A group of concerned parent and faculty members is meeting Tuesday to discuss possible plans to keep the CDC open and running.

A new clinic has opened in Kirksville that offers walk-in services.

The Tommie Index reader's forum includes discussion from students, faculty, and alumni on campus and health care services throughout the state. But only people who are registered can discuss The Tommie.

The Children's Advocacy Center received a $300,000 grant from the Department of Justice to establish a new child abuse center.

The Tommie Index reader's forum includes discussion from students, faculty, and alumni on campus and health care services throughout the state. But only people who are registered can discuss The Tommie.

The Tommie Index reader's forum includes discussion from students, faculty, and alumni on campus and health care services throughout the state. But only people who are registered can discuss The Tommie.
Students John Samson can’t wait to come home after a long day of school and a long day of studying, but he said his weekends will be a different story this year.

Samson said he hopes to be home for most of the semester but will have to accompany the new, bigger dorm halls to the new campus. The residence halls, which have been the focus of much attention this semester, will be complete in August of this year and will be ready for students.

The dorms will house 1,210 students in 393 major rooms. The dorms are being designed for a "student-centered" environment and are expected to be a focal point for students and visitors alike.

"The dorms will be the heart of the campus," said John Mounsey, area coordinator for Residential Living.

"They're the heart of the university," said Mounsey. "We're going to use them to bring students together and to bring the community together.

The dorms will be equipped with a variety of amenities, including a large, open-air lounge, a student union, and a fitness center. The dorms will also provide students with a place to study and a place to relax.

"I think they're going to be a great place for students to hang out," said Mounsey. "We're going to try to make them as comfortable as possible."
Abandoned lot trims on uses

Unused parking near Magruder Hall baffles students and faculty

Eric Nittrouer Staff Reporter

Lack of parking on Truman’s campus might cause student and faculty members to look elsewhere for open parking lots near Magruder Hall as a convenience for them.

The construction workers utilized the parking lot while working on Magruder Hall, said Joyce Alred, office manager for the Department of Public Safety.

The workers still use the lot during some of winter break.

The area is damaged from heavy equipment being stored along the building process, which is part of the reason it is not open for parking, Barnett said.

“IT has not been maintained for a parking lot,” Barnett said. “There are major problems!”

The area is still lacking to the inventory for the Student Union Building renovations that are to begin around mid-month in May, said Doug Watson, campus planner. Public Safety decided to keep the lot closed. Watson said.

Public Safety was under the impression that renovations for the SUB were to begin in January. Barnett said. Although renovations have not started yet, Burnett said. Although renovations have not started yet, Burnett said.

The construction companies have not said they have a job for use of the equipment for the renovations should arrive soon, Barnett said.

The construction companies have said that in the end they will have to move off campus next year because they will not have a job site for their equipment.

Some club teams are in the process of moving off campus for availability but would be hard to move with the local YMCA, according to Sue Limestall, director of campus recreation.

“The demand for practice time by sports clubs is usually more than daylight hours,” she said. “Last year we could only get half the time, but we may not have enough knowledge about a field.”

While the impracticability of the field might cause some concerns, other regulations, including those made by the women’s rugby team, EKCC, and the Intramurals, has also been part of the reason it is not open.

The competition for space leaves one of the few available fields on campus consistently difficult to obtain, said Sue Limestall, director of campus recreation. Some sports clubs are usually more than daylight hours for practices and games, and are looking for availability but would be hard to move with the local YMCA, according to Sue Limestall, director of campus recreation.

“The construction companies did not say we couldn’t play on it. We couldn’t play on it because we had a special blend of grass, as is done with the football field,” she said. “They said the only reason the team was moved to a game scheduled April 1 and the school decided to keep it was to have good condition of the turf.”

“We have a lot of people want to use it,” she said. “Last year we couldn’t get half the field for practices, so it won’t occur. The demand for practice time by sports clubs is usually more than daylight hours.”

It has not been maintained for a parking lot, Barnett said. “There are major problems!”

The area is still lacking to the inventory for the Student Union Building renovations that are to begin around mid-month in May. Barnett said.

The area is still lacking to the inventory for the Student Union Building renovations that are to begin around mid-month in May, said Doug Watson, campus planner. Public Safety decided to keep the lot closed. Watson said.

Public Safety was under the impression that renovations for the SUB were to begin in January. Barnett said. Although renovations have not started yet, Burnett said.

The construction companies have not said they have a job for use of the equipment for the renovations should arrive soon, Barnett said.

The construction companies have said that in the end they will have to move off campus next year because they will not have a job site for their equipment.

“The demand for practice time by sports clubs is usually more than daylight hours,” she said. “Last year we could only get half the time, but we may not have enough knowledge about a field.”

While the impracticability of the field might cause some concerns, other regulations, including those made by the women’s rugby team, EKCC, and the Intramurals, has also been part of the reason it is not open.

The competition for space leaves one of the few available fields on campus consistently difficult to obtain, said Sue Limestall, director of campus recreation. Some sports clubs are usually more than daylight hours for practices and games, and are looking for availability but would be hard to move with the local YMCA, according to Sue Limestall, director of campus recreation.

“The demand for practice time by sports clubs is usually more than daylight hours,” she said. “Last year we could only get half the time, but we may not have enough knowledge about a field.”

While the impracticability of the field might cause some concerns, other regulations, including those made by the women’s rugby team, EKCC, and the Intramurals, has also been part of the reason it is not open. The construction companies have not said they have a job for use of the equipment for the renovations should arrive soon, Barnett said.

The construction companies have said that in the end they will have to move off campus next year because they will not have a job site for their equipment.
Governing Board member Ann Dixon announced early last week a new initiative to sell a portion of the Missouri Higher Education Loan Authority (MOHELA) to raise money for Truman State University. Dixon said the legislation passed by the State of Missouri would allow the University to sell $24.7 million in bonds, most of it coming from interest rates charged to students. The initiative, which focuses on the building and maintenance of state-funded higher education institutions (See story, Page 1). The initiative, which focuses on the higher-education institutions, will allow Truman to raise $24.7 million to underwrite construction projects at the University. Dixon said that Truman will receive nearly $20 million over the next 17 years.

Before staking out a position on the governor to be more interested in what is going on at Truman, Dixon said, “The initiative is aimed at improving the quality of student life.”

During the debate on the initiative, Dixon said, “Any higher-education institution, including Truman, will be asked to raise on its own, estimated at more than $4 million. University President Bob Schulte, District 15 State Rep. Dennis B. McKinney, R-Truman (See story, Page 1), and District 17 State Rep. Chuck Carroll, R-Truman, were among the state lawmakers who supported the legislation. The initiative passed by a vote of 34 to 2 in the Missouri House of Representatives.

Although Dixon said the bill includes $24.7 million to underwrite construction projects at the University, she said that $8 million of that amount will come from interest rates charged to students. The initiative, which focuses on the higher-education institutions, will allow Truman to raise $24.7 million to underwrite construction projects at the University. Dixon said that Truman will receive nearly $20 million over the next 17 years.

The initiative, which focuses on the building and maintenance of state-funded higher education institutions, includes advertisements and letters to the editor. Submitted material because of space limitations, repetitive subject matter, libelous content or any other reason the editor in chief deems appropriate. Submitted material includes advertisements and letters to the editor. Occasionally, a friend of mine, working the door for the Index, criticized some of Residence Life’s policies on this matter. What is the extent of the increase. As it is, I am very pleased that any word of Truman’s reputation. I wish that you, coach Currier, could do the same. I wish, too, that you had a better understanding of those of us who are faculty in this isolated community. That year, I wish that you, coach Currier, had a better understanding of those of us who are faculty in this isolated community. That year, I wish, too, that you had a better understanding of those of us who are faculty in this isolated community.

At the time, the Governor was working on the initiative. The initiative is aimed at improving the quality of student life. Any higher-education institution, including Truman, will be asked to raise on its own, estimated at more than $4 million. University President Bob Schulte, District 15 State Rep. Dennis B. McKinney, R-Truman, and District 17 State Rep. Chuck Carroll, R-Truman, were among the state lawmakers who supported the legislation. The initiative passed by a vote of 34 to 2 in the Missouri House of Representatives.

Although Dixon said the bill includes $24.7 million to underwrite construction projects at the University, she said that $8 million of that amount will come from interest rates charged to students. The initiative, which focuses on the building and maintenance of state-funded higher education institutions, includes advertisements and letters to the editor. Submitted material because of space limitations, repetitive subject matter, libelous content or any other reason the editor in chief deems appropriate. Submitted material includes advertisements and letters to the editor. Occasionally, a friend of mine, working the door for the Index, criticized some of Residence Life’s policies on this matter. What is the extent of the increase. As it is, I am very pleased that any word of Truman’s reputation. I wish that you, coach Currier, could do the same. I wish, too, that you had a better understanding of those of us who are faculty in this isolated community. That year, I wish that you, coach Currier, had a better understanding of those of us who are faculty in this isolated community. That year, I wish, too, that you had a better understanding of those of us who are faculty in this isolated community.

At the time, the Governor was working on the initiative. The initiative is aimed at improving the quality of student life. Any higher-education institution, including Truman, will be asked to raise on its own, estimated at more than $4 million. University President Bob Schulte, District 15 State Rep. Dennis B. McKinney, R-Truman, and District 17 State Rep. Chuck Carroll, R-Truman, were among the state lawmakers who supported the legislation. The initiative passed by a vote of 34 to 2 in the Missouri House of Representatives.

Although Dixon said the bill includes $24.7 million to underwrite construction projects at the University, she said that $8 million of that amount will come from interest rates charged to students. The initiative, which focuses on the building and maintenance of state-funded higher education institutions, includes advertisements and letters to the editor. Submitted material because of space limitations, repetitive subject matter, libelous content or any other reason the editor in chief deems appropriate. Submitted material includes advertisements and letters to the editor. Occasionally, a friend of mine, working the door for the Index, criticized some of Residence Life’s policies on this matter. What is the extent of the increase. As it is, I am very pleased that any word of Truman’s reputation. I wish that you, coach Currier, could do the same. I wish, too, that you had a better understanding of those of us who are faculty in this isolated community. That year, I wish that you, coach Currier, had a better understanding of those of us who are faculty in this isolated community. That year, I wish, too, that you had a better understanding of those of us who are faculty in this isolated community.
Profanity should remain as a tool of human expression

Randi Rosen

American sexologists and psychologists are divided on how society should moderate speech and language. Some argue that profanity should be treated as a provocative tool and a means of expressing the human need for control and communication. Others argue that profanity should be banned because it is offensive and degrading. The debate continues.

Cartoon provides a surprising perspective on race relations

Usually I avoid sentimentality at thinking.

Rarely, a problem so poignant, and so personal, so existentially distressing, come in a package that can be reduced to a single, simple, understandable concept.

Dr. King had a dream in the 1960s, and the writers of "The Boondocks" have extended that dream, if only for one night, into the 21st century ...

Chris Walter

Around the Queen

This week’s question is: “Is the Student Health Center an adequate use of student money?”

“No, I would say no. For the most part, it costs them money to go, and they get weekend hours.”

“Yeah. I went there last year, I don’t need to go, it’s the quickest possible way to get treatment.”

Shannon Anderson is a senior political science major from Kansas City, Mo.

I don’t consider myself a vulgar man, but it’s a fact that the occasional foul word or phrase makes the scene a lot more realistic. This phenomenon has not arisen from a few choice words in a TV series or movie, many of these words would probably not appear in your dictionary.

Making it in a world that usually changes and people change their minds, it is easier to understand that language is a tool for better communication. Barring something like a "foul word," it is a simple way to communicate with our fellow human beings.

I don’t think it’s fair to say that we should be able to say anything the courage brought up. And, while I do think that it is important to induce language to the increasingly popular language, helping us to express our feelings and thoughts more clearly.

The people who write these "framing-euphemisms," "framing-euphemisms," and "framing-euphemisms" are harmless alternatives, but they aren’t exactly as I would have thought.

And it is the main second-language learner – the most common way to have a relationship is not to express it.

The argument seems to be that anyone who uses profanity is "immoral" or "immoral." The reason I don’t have the inclination to mention is the public’s fear of sex and anything related to sexuality. The fear of sex and anything related to sexuality is the confine of the "foul word." Also, it’s the only sexual activity.

The organization wants to be sure that men and women, in particular, are involved in the process of handling sexual activity.

It is interesting to see what language is used in the context of a relationship. The language used in the context of a relationship is often the language we use to communicate with each other.

Regardless of our opinions, sex goes beyond individual decisions to influence our desires.

Expression drives the American educational system, yet abstinence programs as the predominant method of health education programs fail to prepare students for the realities of relationships and reproduction. Society does not just ignore or not understand how much sex and sexuality, in particular, can be beneficial.

Our Constitution, or the one we have, is not to be insulted. Be as you wish, but to be avoided. And it is not.

One cannot assume that negligence leads to sexual abuse, rape or abortion, either.

We are addicted to discovering what we don’t know, and we are capable of killing ourselves and expressing our sexual desires outside the confines of a relationship.

Women are taught that only one of the factors that results in the desire for recreation is to give them a sense of control and to feel the need for sexual activity.

Our Constitution, or the one we have, is not to be insulted. Be as you wish, but to be avoided. And it is not.

One cannot assume that negligence leads to sexual abuse, rape or abortion, either.

We are addicted to discovering what we don’t know, and we are capable of killing ourselves and expressing our sexual desires outside the confines of a relationship.

Women are taught that only one of the factors that results in the desire for recreation is to give them a sense of control and to feel the need for sexual activity.
The Rise of the Fraternity

The annual increase in fraternity membership and the rise of the keg party are a concern for police departments.

Last year, the increase in minors in possession violations and a rise in alcohol-related offenses were of concern for police departments.

The budget allotted for 2006 is $1.5 million, which includes a new police district for Kirksville.

Although the police department has a field officer to work with fraternities, it often requests a police officer to maintain a higher clearance rate on crimes for the police department.

The police budget for 2006 is $1.5 million, which includes a new police district for Kirksville.

The police department has a field officer to work with fraternities, it often requests a police officer to maintain a higher clearance rate on crimes for the police department.

The police budget for 2006 is $1.5 million, which includes a new police district for Kirksville.

The police department has a field officer to work with fraternities, it often requests a police officer to maintain a higher clearance rate on crimes for the police department.

The police budget for 2006 is $1.5 million, which includes a new police district for Kirksville.

The police department has a field officer to work with fraternities, it often requests a police officer to maintain a higher clearance rate on crimes for the police department.

The police budget for 2006 is $1.5 million, which includes a new police district for Kirksville.

The police department has a field officer to work with fraternities, it often requests a police officer to maintain a higher clearance rate on crimes for the police department.

The police budget for 2006 is $1.5 million, which includes a new police district for Kirksville.

The police department has a field officer to work with fraternities, it often requests a police officer to maintain a higher clearance rate on crimes for the police department.

The police budget for 2006 is $1.5 million, which includes a new police district for Kirksville.

The police department has a field officer to work with fraternities, it often requests a police officer to maintain a higher clearance rate on crimes for the police department.

The police budget for 2006 is $1.5 million, which includes a new police district for Kirksville.

The police department has a field officer to work with fraternities, it often requests a police officer to maintain a higher clearance rate on crimes for the police department.

The police budget for 2006 is $1.5 million, which includes a new police district for Kirksville.

The police department has a field officer to work with fraternities, it often requests a police officer to maintain a higher clearance rate on crimes for the police department.

The police budget for 2006 is $1.5 million, which includes a new police district for Kirksville.

The police department has a field officer to work with fraternities, it often requests a police officer to maintain a higher clearance rate on crimes for the police department.

The police budget for 2006 is $1.5 million, which includes a new police district for Kirksville.

The police department has a field officer to work with fraternities, it often requests a police officer to maintain a higher clearance rate on crimes for the police department.

The police budget for 2006 is $1.5 million, which includes a new police district for Kirksville.

The police department has a field officer to work with fraternities, it often requests a police officer to maintain a higher clearance rate on crimes for the police department.

The police budget for 2006 is $1.5 million, which includes a new police district for Kirksville.

The police department has a field officer to work with fraternities, it often requests a police officer to maintain a higher clearance rate on crimes for the police department.

The police budget for 2006 is $1.5 million, which includes a new police district for Kirksville.

The police department has a field officer to work with fraternities, it often requests a police officer to maintain a higher clearance rate on crimes for the police department.

The police budget for 2006 is $1.5 million, which includes a new police district for Kirksville.

The police department has a field officer to work with fraternities, it often requests a police officer to maintain a higher clearance rate on crimes for the police department.

The police budget for 2006 is $1.5 million, which includes a new police district for Kirksville.

The police department has a field officer to work with fraternities, it often requests a police officer to maintain a higher clearance rate on crimes for the police department.

The police budget for 2006 is $1.5 million, which includes a new police district for Kirksville.

The police department has a field officer to work with fraternities, it often requests a police officer to maintain a higher clearance rate on crimes for the police department.

The police budget for 2006 is $1.5 million, which includes a new police district for Kirksville.

The police department has a field officer to work with fraternities, it often requests a police officer to maintain a higher clearance rate on crimes for the police department.

The police budget for 2006 is $1.5 million, which includes a new police district for Kirksville.

The police department has a field officer to work with fraternities, it often requests a police officer to maintain a higher clearance rate on crimes for the police department.

The police budget for 2006 is $1.5 million, which includes a new police district for Kirksville.

The police department has a field officer to work with fraternities, it often requests a police officer to maintain a higher clearance rate on crimes for the police department.

The police budget for 2006 is $1.5 million, which includes a new police district for Kirksville.

The police department has a field officer to work with fraternities, it often requests a police officer to maintain a higher clearance rate on crimes for the police department.

The police budget for 2006 is $1.5 million, which includes a new police district for Kirksville.

The police department has a field officer to work with fraternities, it often requests a police officer to maintain a higher clearance rate on crimes for the police department.

The police budget for 2006 is $1.5 million, which includes a new police district for Kirksville.

The police department has a field officer to work with fraternities, it often requests a police officer to maintain a higher clearance rate on crimes for the police department.
from the governor’s initiative but Truman will receive $21.8 million. HELA loans should not be affected. graduate students who have MO-MOHELA portion of the company being sold. at once.

Continued from Page 1

MOHELA

Governor proposes sale of student loan agency to fund higher education

Continued from Page 1

Wednesday, February 2, 2006

Truman doesn’t care about preschool continued rather than if it is sold all

Mindy Maness, Student Senate external affairs chairwoman, said in an interview, call 626-1500.

Counseling services face staff shortages amid full schedules.

Hughes said if anyone has any information concerning the investigation, he or she should call the Police Department at 660-785-4949 or www.ststravel.com for more information.

ITC offers external program

Employment: The Index is now hiring a recording engineer and a sales assistant. Please contact the Index at 785-4444 for an application, or stop by the location office in the lower level of the Student Union Building.

Employment: Emery Division of Maritz Marketing Research, 2815 N. Baltimore St., Kirksville, Mo., 63501. Ped. training. Plaintiff smoke-free working environment. Part-time work. No selling involved. Scripted customer satisfaction surveys. Part time employees eligible for paid time off. $7 per hour. Requires: Typing/computer skills, verbal communing, able to follow directions, average

ITC offers external program

Fundraiser: Contact Campus/Campus at 888-923-3238 or visit www.campusfundraiser.com for more information.

ITC offers external program

Fundraiser: Contact Campus/Campus at 888-923-3238 or visit www.campusfundraiser.com for more information.
Cyber café ready to boot up

To all FAFSA students and their parents:

The U.S. Department of Education recently announced that the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) system will be replaced by the new Common Application for Federal Student Aid (CAFA) system. The CAFA system will require students to provide more detailed information about their financial background.

In order to prepare for the transition, we recommend that all FAFSA students and their parents complete the CAFA application as soon as possible. The CAFA application can be accessed online at www.commonapp.org.

Please note that the CAFA system is still in development and may undergo changes prior to its implementation. Therefore, it is important to check the website regularly for updates and changes.

We encourage all FAFSA students and their parents to complete the CAFA application as soon as possible to ensure a smooth transition.

Thank you for your cooperation.

Sincerely,
[Your Name]

FAFSA Student Services