If a basketball game were just 38 minutes long, the Bulldogs would be celebrating their fourth conference win. But the women's basketball team couldn't have asked for better opponents to start the three-game stretch, and the loss dropped them to 7-13 overall and 3-11 in the MIAA.

The loss dropped the 'Dogs to 7-15 overall and 3-11 in the MIAA. Truman University improved to 5-15 overall and 5-9 in the MIAA. The win kept them in second place in the MIAA's West division.

Junior forward Amanda Westhoff led the 'Dogs with 27 points and 10 rebounds. Westhoff said one of the biggest things for the Bulldogs was turning down a shot.

"Unbelievable, we had a few breakdowns that put us behind," Westhoff said.

But the win was personal. The Bulldogs had grown from gaining their fifth MIAA title as freshmen to a senior group that envisions itself as this year's champions.

"We had a meet that brings a lot of attention. It's a smaller meet, so we'll just run the track and see how we do," Westhoff said.

"It's obviously an advantage, but we're still going to have to run a meet," Westhoff said. "It's a big deal, but it's so much a matter of where you run it."
