An amnesty international opposition to war in Iraq

In the years I’ve been here, I have become increasingly concerned with the impact the anti-war movement has had on the Truman community. I am aware that Truman and Kirksville are not immune to the anti-war movement. In fact, this is now the third time we have been under fire by the anti-war movement since this time last year. This last time forces put up a booth in the main hallway near the World Cafe this past Monday, a booth that I personally know is designed to encourage students to write letters to their congressmen.

I would like to see the opposition to the war in Iraq organized in a more efficient manner, considering the enormous amount of time and money that is being wasted on this movement. I would like to see it organized in such a way that students are not wasting valuable time going against the view or the human nature of the general public. Over 8,000 Iraqis already submitted applications to the anti-war movement for a position in the International University. I would like to see the opposition to the war in Iraq be more efficient in a way that involves with the mainstream media and utilizes the media for its own purposes.

In my opinion, the anti-war movement is doing an excellent job of raising awareness among the international community. I see no reason why the anti-war movement shouldn’t be allowed to exist for as long as it serves its purpose. I do not believe that the anti-war movement is making a difference in the war in Iraq.

The anti-war movement is not the only one that is making a difference. The Truman community is making a difference. I believe that the Truman community is making a difference in the world.
