Barbara Dixon, vice president for academic affairs for the University of New York at Geneseo, will take Jayne’s position July 1. Dixon said there was a lot of discussion among members before the final decision was made.

“After many meetings of the executive committee,衔接句子,” Dixon said, “I really think we came to conclusions about the kind of person, the kind of candidates we wanted to be here at Truman.” She said the budget for the position was the best fit for Truman. The 33-year-old Dixon said she plans to bring a fresh perspective to the campus.

“I think that’s been something that really always accompanied by a sense of fun, and we think that you really have to care about your job and take a great deal of pride in it," Dixon said. "There will be a sense of style to the position on you aren’t going to do it all, and we come to Kirkville to have some cultural challenges, to get to know the people at Truman.

“For anyone coming into an institution, like a liberal arts institution, it’s important to learn in a short amount of time and learning the non-classroom culture,” Dixon said. “There are things that would face any president.”

Newton said Dixon has been a really positive influence, and that she will be missed. “We feel like she was a really positive influence in the vice president’s office,” Bailey said. “And she has been very supportive of the university.” Dixon’s position was made public by the Board of Governors President Tom Rawlins.
