Truman joins ranks of ‘cool’ universities

Magazine judges coolness by male-female ratio, coed dorms and other criteria

Truman is 88th fastest school in nation for girls, according to Seventeen magazine.

Truman is also one of the nation's fastest schools for coed dorms and equal-opportunity programs for women. Seventeen magazine compiled data from 100 schools and ranked them on the basis of coed dorms and other criteria. Seventeen's "Coolness Index" is based on a five-point scale. Seventeen magazine judges "coolness" by male-female ratio, coed dorms and other criteria. The magazine is listed on page 98 of the Sept. 15 issue.

University of California officials declared their campus a "cool" school in the Sept. 15 issue of Seventeen magazine.

"You think of Mizzou, you think library. You think of home, you think library," said Daniel Best, senior librarian at the University of California.

Templeton said some students have beenכס by the "coolness" ranking.

Football player Tim Magruder said he was excited because he agreed with the magazine.

"Finally someone is noticing our school," Magruder said.

"I think we have a good chance of being Number 1," he said.
