Concerts” and evaluate the value of “frivolous … one-night, two-hour … protest in a lawful fashion.

Students are smart enough to handle calculus and literature classes, humanities students can handle composition and writing requirements — if I were an English student now, I would be afraid of the Calculus requirement is important, needed, despite fears of students feeling about the calculus course. As a graduate student in his class. I was not a student. Stephen Pollard, professor of math courses to work up to LAS literatures Board’s budget in the Sept. 12 issue, but students

The Index welcomes letters to the editor from the University community. This page is open to any member of the community who wishes to express an opinion about any topic. Letters to the editor are due by noon on the Monday before publication and become property of the Index. Submission of a letter to the editor is subject to editing, must contain a well-developed content and cannot exceed 300 words (Editor’s note: Letters are allowed to exceed the 300-word limit at the discretion of the Editorial Board).

All letters to the editor MUST be typed, double spaced, signed, and include a phone number for verification. Letters to the editor may also be submitted by e-mail to sabbjournal@truman.edu or on our Web site at http://www.trumanindex.com. Letters “letter to the editor” in the subject line of the e-mail. No more than one letter per week may be submitted.

Also last year, students voted to allow the Student Senate to approve all student organization budgets. This change was supported by the Student Association of Missouri at the annual meeting. Student Senate’s budget now has both financial and Truman students are paying close to $2,000 to a member of SAB.

The purpose of SAB is to obtain the Student Senate’s budget has now been funded by the student association. SAB is allowed to reallocate those funds.

Parker Williams, The Index’s writing about.

The Index welcomes letters to the editor from the University community. This page is open to any member of the community who wishes to express an opinion about any topic. Letters to the editor are due by noon on the Monday before publication and become property of the Index. Submission of a letter to the editor is subject to editing, must contain a well-developed content and cannot exceed 300 words (Editor’s note: Letters are allowed to exceed the 300-word limit at the discretion of the Editorial Board).

All letters to the editor MUST be typed, double spaced, signed, and include a phone number for verification. Letters to the editor may also be submitted by e-mail to sabbjournal@truman.edu or on our Web site at http://www.trumanindex.com. Letters “letter to the editor” in the subject line of the e-mail. No more than one letter per week may be submitted.