Senior Susan Shelly-Wilson tells women at a rally of the status of rape in the United States on Thursday at the Commons Center. The high turnover rate of law enforcement officers interned to make sure that they do not "get away with it," she said. "Here's a chance for us at Truman to utilize some of the tools that we have to make a difference."

According to the police report, Williams as a 6-foot, 2-inch man of 180 pounds. Williams was treated at the University of Missouri Health System in Columbia. Williams said that he was stricken by the report. "I was shocked and surprised at the report," he said. "I thought that the officers had not responded to the situation in a proper way."

The report states that Williams as a 6-foot, 2-inch man of 180 pounds. Williams was treated at the University of Missouri Health System in Columbia. Williams said that he was stricken by the report. "I was shocked and surprised at the report," he said. "I thought that the officers had not responded to the situation in a proper way."

The report states that Williams as a 6-foot, 2-inch man of 180 pounds. Williams was treated at the University of Missouri Health System in Columbia. Williams said that he was stricken by the report. "I was shocked and surprised at the report," he said. "I thought that the officers had not responded to the situation in a proper way."

The report states that Williams as a 6-foot, 2-inch man of 180 pounds. Williams was treated at the University of Missouri Health System in Columbia. Williams said that he was stricken by the report. "I was shocked and surprised at the report," he said. "I thought that the officers had not responded to the situation in a proper way."

The report states that Williams as a 6-foot, 2-inch man of 180 pounds. Williams was treated at the University of Missouri Health System in Columbia. Williams said that he was stricken by the report. "I was shocked and surprised at the report," he said. "I thought that the officers had not responded to the situation in a proper way."