A dance phenomenon has spread across the Truman campus through a video game. Freshman Adam Nachtweih and junior Ryan Bancroft, both part of a group called DDR for Health, won the first place in a tournament this past spring. It's a revolution in video gaming.

Dance Revolution, an interactive video game, is motivating itself from rooms to residence halls to campus events.

Dance Revolution is a revolution in video gaming.