Letters to the Editor

The Index welcomes your letter and reserves the right to publish or reject any letter. Letters to the editor, that appear on your Index, are subject to editing, must contain a well-developed theme and cannot exceed 300 words. Letters to the editor that appear on your Index may be submitted via the Index’s website, www.collegepublisher.com. We can be reached by phone at 660-785-4449. Contents of the Index are subject to copyright. Questions about the content of a particular issue of the Index may be addressed to the editor of the Index. The Index reserves the right to determine the format of any additions to the Index. We cannot guarantee the return or confidentiality of any submitted material.

Letters to the Editor must be typed, double-spaced, signed and include a phone number for verification. Letters to the editor may also be submitted by email at ekkslesia@collegepublisher.com or via www.truman.edu/ekkslesia. Include the words “Index editor” in the subject line of the e-mail. No more than one letter may be submitted a week.

Letters to the Editor are published Monday morning, unless otherwise noted. Letters to the Editor are published in good faith and are subject to editorial discretion. The Index is not responsible for any libel, legal or other consequences to which a letter may contribute.

In conclusion, can I please publicly praise to Truman and Diane in Councilman Reeves’ name. The other side has its own(Methodist) mail also here! This is the place for specific public behavior requests?
