New cafe opens on Square

La Te Da offers a menu of fresh, inexpensive items

Adrienne Horton has opened up La Te Da, a new cafe and boutique. Horton said she originally planned to make a career out of interior designing. She left La Te Da, went to art school, and then returned to St. Louis. Horton said the boutique has taken a back seat to the restaurant.

“The boutique is the front thing on the horizon,” Horton said.

She said she intended to work somewhere else, but as they wandered through the boutique, they realized it was not much longer.

“We just started serving lunch (June 20). Every day of the week we have a soup, salad and sandwich. You can mix and match and have two of the three.”

Adrienne Horton is the owner and manager of La Te Da.

In addition to being a coffee shop, a lunch and dinner spot, La Te Da also is an espresso bar. Horton said the restaurant can meet all sorts of needs.

“When we open it up, we’re going to have a little girl’s birthday party tomorrow where they all get all their mugs of coffee,” Horton said. “And she said La Te Da is different from other restaurants in a variety of ways.

“We stand out because it’s all homemade,” she said. “Nothing is frozen. It’s all fresh, nothing artificial.”

Katherine McClanahan is the assistant manager.

In addition to being a coffee shop, La Te Da also is an espresso bar. McClanahan said she likes the menu change completely, with five different groups of menu that will suit the weather.

“This soup will be perfect if you have to be in the office type,” Horton said.

La Te Da is open Monday to Friday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Horton said the soups are available according to the weather.

The service was friendly and personable.
• The food was timely and tasty.
• The last time I was here was a delightful way to quench my thirst.

Cost: $5.50 plus tax for:
• A chicken Caesar salad, a bowl of baked potato soup and tax
• A large chicken of choice, nestled in the robust lettuce
• The baked potato soup
