The Iraq War and Archaeology
Dr. Francis Deblauwe
7 p.m.
Monday, Jan. 26
Ophelia Parrish Hall, South Wing Atrium
Sponsored by the Residential College Program

Scattered remains of one of the Harps of Ur and other artifacts, in the preservation rooms of the Baghdad National Museum; the harp's golden bull's head was safe in the Central Bank's vault.

Photo (c) 2003 John M. Russell