Changes on campus

Looking at two decades of evolution: students, structure and technology

The curriculum, enrollment and budget at the University even offered one- and two-year business programs. It also offered commercial education, residential living, and open enrollment through the University's Extension Division.

As the university grew, so did its facilities.

In 1983, a $22 million renovation of Violette Hall was completed.

In 1984, a $10 million renovation of Baldwin Hall was completed.

In 1985, the Campus Library was renovated.

In 1986, a $15 million renovation of Hall was completed.

In 1987, a $20 million renovation of 1977.

In 1988, a $25 million renovation of 1978.

In 1989, a $30 million renovation of 1979.

In 1990, a $35 million renovation of 1980.

In 1992, a $45 million renovation of 1982.

In 1993, a $50 million renovation of 1983.

In 1995, a $60 million renovation of 1985.

In 1997, a $70 million renovation of 1987.

In 1999, a $80 million renovation of 1989.

In 2000, a $85 million renovation of 1990.

In 2003, a $100 million renovation of 1993.