The Bulldogs faced off against the Comets in a high-stakes game.

The Bulldogs, led by their star quarterback, made a strong showing on offense. Their running back, with 130 yards on 20 carries, scored two touchdowns and set up the team for a victory.

On defense, the Bulldogs' line accounted for 10 tackles and a sack, while the secondary held the Comets to just 14 yards of passing.

The win moves the Bulldogs into second place in the conference standings and sets them up for a potential championship run.

Sternberg's athletic abilities aren't limited to the football field. He is also an accomplished student, consistently ranking at the top of his class.

But if Sternberg is able to break through and make the most of his opportunities, Nourse said, "he has the potential to be one of the best defensive linemen to come through Truman in a long time."